

Adventures of The Twins

"UNDER THE MOON-MAN"

"WHAT SHALL WE DO?" THEY ASKED THE FAIRYMAN.

Mr. and Mrs. Monkey stood looking at the two cocoanuts under the log.

"Where's the nice white rice, Mr. Moon-Man?" called Mr. Monkey. Flippety-Flap now stepped into view from behind the round mirror, followed by the twins.

"Are you the Moon-Man?" asked Mrs. Monkey in surprise. "You may call me what you wish," answered Flippety-Flap. "These are my friends."

"But where's the rice?" Flippety-Flap pointed to the cocoanuts with the holes in the ends.

Mr. and Mrs. Monkey each grabbed a cocoanut and sniffed. "Great roasting fish!" shouted Mr. Monkey. "It's rice sure as anything!"

"Then he and Mrs. Monkey stuck their fists in quickly through the holes and grabbed a handful apiece. A great, big, large, round handful—all they could hold. But when they tried to pull their hands out all doubled up 'n all, they wouldn't come!"

"Leggo!" cried Mr. Monkey. "Leggo, yourself!" cried Mrs. Monkey.

But neither of them could or would or did let go.

"What shall we do?" they begged the fairyman.

Flippety-Flap smiled. Things were

WOMEN RELIEF WORKERS

Letter Left by Head of Greek Church Praises American Women

A posthumous letter from the head of the Greek church throughout the world praising the work of two American women relief workers, Miss Fannie G. Strowger, of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Lolla Priest, of Detroit, Mich., has just reached the New York office of the near east relief. Both girls are engaged in caring for the refugees and nursing the wounded back of the Greek front near Ismid. The letter is from His Holiness, Archbishop Dorotheos, of Broussa, locum tenens of the Greek Patriarchate at Constantinople, who died in London on March 13. He had written the letter just before he left Constantinople to attend the near eastern conference in London, which was the first time the ecumenical patriarch of the Greek church had visited western Europe since 1445. The patriarch writes:

To the noble gentlemen who constitute the near east relief, the best blessing from the bottom of our heart we send you. The most reverend Metropolitan of Nicomedia, Alexander, by his report to the Patriarchate describing the dreadful condition of the numerous Greek refugees there in the vicinity who escaped the alarm and cruelty of the

North Bridge Resident Says She Believes Tanlac Will Restore Anyone Who Suffers as She Did

"I just think Tanlac is the grandest medicine in the world, and I wish everybody suffering like I did knew about it and would try it. For I believe it is the one medicine that will restore them to health," said Miss Mellina Bibeau of Northbridge, Mass. "For some time I was in a badly rundown condition. I suffered from constipation, a great deal, and had awful pains in my stomach after eating. My food seemed to give me no more energy than if I hadn't eaten anything at all. I fell off in weight, and felt tired and worn out all the time. I had very little strength and was in such a miserable condition that I was very much worried about myself.

"Four bottles of Tanlac had given me an excellent appetite and had rid me entirely of stomach trouble and constipation. My food agrees with me perfectly and gives me new strength and energy. I have gained several pounds in weight, and I feel worn out feeling has completely disappeared, and I feel fine in every way. I am just as grateful as I can be for what Tanlac has done for me, and I'm only too glad to recommend it."

"Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's Drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass. Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

Turks and came to Nicomedia, with special emotion and gratefulness describes the great assistance in food, clothing and other most valuable committee rendered to these wretched ones since May last, and the wonderful work done by the near east relief and the American hospital at Ismid. His Holiness mentions very gratefully the work of your personnel at Derindeje, and especially the great affection and self-sacrifice shown by Misses Strowger and Priest in this high philanthropic service, who spare nothing for the good and relief of the poor.

Having taken under consideration the above mentioned report, we read it with emotion in the meeting of our Holy and Sacred Synod, and thought it our duty to express to you and the American Red Cross, through you, the warmest thanks of our church and of our nation for the philanthropic and fraternal assistance. We beg you to be pleased to express your thanks to our representatives in Derindeje, and especially to the above mentioned ladies, Miss Strowger and Miss Priest. Again repeating our expression of gratitude and appreciation to you and to the whole noble American nation as well, for such splendid relief to all sufferers in general, for your good will and conscientiousness of the commandments of the high Christian virtue, and love, we beg God to grant you the best of all: good health and real happiness. A special Salvation Army service was held at the Highland Congregational church yesterday morning. The service opened with the organ prelude, "Intermezzo," by Clyde, played by Miss Clara Fenton while the Salvation Army band marched in and took seats. Following this a selection was given by the band, and then a prayer by Rev. James M. Craig. The chorus, led by Miss Alice Ingham, sang, "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me." After a solo by Miss Hazel F. Tutill, Adj. Robert Henderson of the Salvation Army delivered an address on the great work the army is doing and has done. The meeting closed after another selection by the band and the psalm, "Psalm of the Festival March," by Miss Fenton.

HUGHES SCORES SOVIET RULE

Declares U. S. Will Enter No
Trade Relations During
Red Regime

Russia Described as "Gigantic Economic Vacuum" in
Letter to Gompers

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Secretary Hughes, writing to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who asked for a statement of the facts regarding Russia, indicates definitely that there is no prospect of a resumption of relations with the United States while the Soviet political and economic system remains. The letter of the secretary of state, after direct reply to various statements characterized as propaganda, which contend consumption of relations, trade or political, with the Soviets could open a great current of trade advantage to the United States and that large shipments of Russian goods have already been made to other countries in payment for goods.

SPRING AILMENTS

Impure Blood, Humors.—Relief in
a Good Medicine.

Spring ailments are due to impure, thin, devitalized blood.
Among them are pimples, boils,
other eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism, loss of appetite, that tired
feeling, nervousness and "all rundown" conditions.
Hood's Sarsaparilla combines the roots, barks, herbs, berries and other medicinal plants that have been found in many years of intelligent observation to be most effective in the treatment of these ailments.
Successful physicians prescribe
the same ingredients for diseases of the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys, and in cases where alternative and tonic effects are needed.
Hood's Sarsaparilla is the spring medicine that purifies, enriches and revitalizes your blood, increasing power of resistance to disease.

political and economic system continues." Taking us specifically the charge that the scarcity of goods in Russia
is due to the blockade which was removed July 8, 1920, and the statement that the demand for manufactured goods in Russia is so great, and the purchasing power of the Soviets so vast
that it is almost impossible to determine the capacity of the Russian market to import, Sec. Hughes wrote:
"Though there is almost no limit to
the amount and variety of commodities
urgently needed by Russia, the purchasing power of that country is now at a minimum and the demand must consequently remain unsatisfied. The attitude and action of the present authorities of Russia have tended to undermine its political and economic relations with other countries. The Russian people are unable to obtain credit which might otherwise be based on the vast potential wealth of Russia and
are compelled to be deprived of commodities immediately necessary for consumption, raw material and permanent productive equipment. It should not be overlooked that there has been a steady degeneration in even those industries in Soviet Russia that were not dependent upon imports of either
raw material or partly finished products nor in which there have been any shortages of labor. The cause of the failure of all these industries to blockades or civil war, for most of them require no imports, and the men, mobilized since the Soviet revolution were far less in number than before that event.

Restrictions on direct trade with Russia were removed by the United States on July 8, 1920. The conclusion of treaties of peace with the Baltic states enabled Russia freely to enter upon trade with Europe and the United States. Both American and European goods have been sold to Russia, but
the volume of trade has been unimportant, due to the inability of Russia to pay for imports.

"It is true that agents purporting
to be representatives of the so-called Bolshevik commissariat of foreign trade have placed immense orders for the purchase of goods in the United States,
Europe and Asia. It is estimated that perhaps six and one-half billion dollars worth of orders have been booked. But shipments, as result of these orders,
have been made only in small volume
because the Soviet agents were unable either to pay cash or to obtain credit
so as to insure the delivery of the goods ordered."

In reality, Secretary Hughes says,
transfer of Russian gold to other countries have been small, and at the most liberal estimates the Soviets have not more than $125,000,000 of gold in their possession. Even the immediate expenditure of the whole amount in the United States, he points out, would have no pronounced or lasting effect on American trade or industry and it might "take away the scant hope that is left of a sound reorganization of the Russian system of currency and finance."

There have been since Dec. 18, 1919,
Secretary Hughes informs Mr. Gompers,
no restrictions on financial trans-

Relations between the United States and Russia although there is no assurance that the mint or the reserve banks will accept Russian gold, as public institutions must be assured that title is not open to question.

"The fact," in regard to supplies in Russia available for export, Mr. Hughes wrote, "completely refutes" statements that if the United States recognized the Soviets, Russia immediately would export large quantities of lumber, flax,
hemp, fur and other commodities. "The facts," he says, show that Russia does not have on hand for export commodities which might be made basis of immediately profitable trade with the United States, and he adds that the Russian transportation is so demoralized that it could not move them if they existed. Mr. Hughes quotes an official organ of the Soviet government
to show that lumber production in 1920
was one-fifth of the pre-war level, although the industry was in better circumstances than others. A table shows
the output of eight principal exporting commodities at from 12 to 58 per cent.
of what was expected.

Furthermore, Secretary Hughes
points out that before the war American trade with Russia in both directions constituted only 1.3-10 per cent.
of all the foreign trade of the United States, being in the year ending June 30, 1913, at a total of $55,000,000 for both exports and imports while for the calendar year 1920, it was $10,000,000
and practically all of that was with territories free of Soviet domination.
"It is unquestionably desirable,"
wrote Mr. Hughes to Mr. Gompers,
"that intimate and mutually profitable
commercial relations on an extensive scale be established between the United States and Russia, and it is the sincere hope of this government that there may be readjustments in Russia which will make it possible for that country to resume its proper place in the economic life of the world."

event ever staged in this country will

of celebrated opera singers ever assembled for any one festival.
Mr. S. Kronberg, who is responsible for this festival, is going to utilize the splendid musical forces at his com-

program of instrumental and solo vo-

over the entire standard literature of music.

SEC. JOHN W. WEEKS

Some "Happencances" Concerning Himself, His Home and the Forestry Law

(Special to The Sun.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18.—Here are two curious "happencances" as they say up in northern New Hampshire where Secretary of War John W. Weeks was born. And they both concern him.

Secretary Weeks although a resident of Massachusetts was born in Lancaster, N. H., right under the shadow of the White Mountain peaks. The Weeks forestry law which has done so much to preserve the watersheds of New England rivers was a bill drawn and fostered by Mr. Weeks, then a member of congress. The terms of the bill make the secretary of war one of the members ex-officio of the commission which has the deciding voice in all matters pertaining to carrying out the terms of the bill. And now, just as the terms of the old bill expire, and a bill asking for its continuance with an appropriation of ten million dollars has been put before congress, that same John W. Weeks is secretary of war, and now, instead of going before a secretary and urging favorable consideration of the project, as happened in the first instance, it will be Mr. Weeks, as secretary of war, who will be in a strong position to aid the project.

The second "happencance" is that when Secretary Weeks recently entertained Secretary of State Hughes and Congressman Winslow at dinner on the occasion of their joint birthday, which this April 11th both were then celebrating, the dinner was given in the house built and occupied by Secretary Weeks when he was on the supreme bench, and which he later sold to Secretary Weeks who now lives here in a house of distinguished association. It is owned and was formerly the home of a son of General Grant, who now leases it to Col. Winslow.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatre Strand Press Agents.

THE STRAND

The extraordinary double-super-special program, scheduled for presentation on the Strand screen for the entire week, starting with matinee today, gives every promise of providing the patrons of the city and suburbs one of the biggest offerings in motion pictures that it has ever been their opportunity to enjoy. Certainly nothing bigger or better has ever been given on the same bill, and we feel positively certain that never before have such big features been given at the Strand prices. General Manager Thomas D. Soriero made a ten-strike in securing these two features and the local patrons should, and unquestionably will, show their appreciation by turning out in large numbers at all performances. Priscilla Dean in "Outside the Law" will be the headline, and Clara Kimball Young in "Mid-Channel." There will also be the usual comedy and weekly and musical numbers, and the prices will be the same as usual, with 11-cent children's tickets at all matinees, and 50c 50-cent tickets on sale each evening.

Priscilla Dean, recognized as queen of cinema crookdom, appears in the greatest characterization of her career, and her first feature since "The Virgin of Stamboul" in "Outside the Law," a melodramatic offering. "Outside the Law," Lon Chaney, acknowledged the foremost character on the screen, is prominent in the star's support in two roles of astonishing distinction. Wheeler Oakman, Ralph Lewis, E. A. Warren and others are also noted in the cast. Melbourne MacDowell and Little Stanley Goethals are other principals.

When that brilliant, emotional screen actress, Clara Kimball Young, the star with a hundred personalities, won universal fame as the "wistful American girl" in "The Eyes of Youth," then as the flighty and flirtatious Parisian in "The Forbidden Woman," and finally as the brave and noble spirited Spanish donna in "For the Soul of Rafael," it was hard to conceive how she could excel any of her past achievements. Her latest vehicle, however, reveals new wonders in the versatility of her interpretation. With every new effort this ingratiating actress leaps ever higher in the affections of the public. "Mid-Channel," Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's big stage success in which Ethel Barrymore scored one of her biggest triumphs, affords Miss Young bigger and better opportunity than any previous effort, to reflect her rare talent. It is known as the greatest story of married life by the greatest playwright on modern marriage. Don't miss seeing it.

FOR EVENING AND AFTERNOON

Here are Lucile models of gowns for evening and afternoon. This evening gown at the left is of black Chantilly lace with bodice and panels, front and back, of green and yellow shot silk, bindings and ruchings of silk gold galloon and tinsel trimming. The afternoon gown is of dark blue foulard with cream pattern. Sleeves and cascade panel are of dark blue chiffon. The belt is of galloon and the hat of dark blue satin.

OPERA HOUSE

The offering by the Lowell Players at the Opera House for the week beginning with matinee today will be that big Broadway comedy success, "The Girl in the Limousine," with Collinson and Avery Howard, authors of "Up in Mabel's Room," "The Gold Diggers," and "Fair and Warner," are responsible for this latest, and by many considered their biggest laugh hit. Mirth and merriment flow in generous measure throughout the three acts of this farce. The plot revolves about the house of a well known society man by two highwaymen who rob him of everything, including his clothes, and leave him unconscious under a bed in the very house towards which he had been headed as a weekend guest. From this point on the farce moves with irresistible funny complications to its finale. "The Girl in the Limousine" has been characterized the farce with a laugh every minute. It is a mass of confusion in which is mingled brilliant and side-splitting dialogue. To miss it will be to lose one of the most delightful entertainments imaginable.

It's needless to give assurance that the players will handle this offering with the same finish and satisfaction which has marked all former presentations. Miss Marguerite Fields and

Milton Byron will shoulder the major portion of the fun making, and as they have many times in the past demonstrated their special qualifications of comedy, there is every reason to expect praiseworthy results. Maxwell Driscoll, Charles L. Barton and Kenneth Fleming will be found in comical roles, while Miss Priscilla Knowles and Miss Florence Hill, whose comedy efforts have always been genuinely good, will again be found in good parts. Director Jack Bennett will make the production of the same high standard of all offerings by the players. Tickets are selling fast for the week's run, so that it's advisable to make your reservations early. Tel. 261.

J. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Tomorrow, Patriots day, three performances of the show to be given its premiere today at the B. F. Keith theatre, are scheduled. Each performance will be complete in every detail, and tickets will begin respectively at 2, 4, 30 and 8 p. m.

The present week's bill ought to prove a highly entertaining combination for the show to be given its premiere today at the B. F. Keith theatre, are scheduled. Each performance will be complete in every detail, and tickets will begin respectively at 2, 4, 30 and 8 p. m.

For real comedy, without a moment of heavy thought entering into it, the "Blackface" Eddie Ross should take quite the palm. No better blackface single is on the boards than Ross, and his story-telling stands out as at once funny and wholly original. He carries with him his "African harp,"

Do This For Constipation

THE public should know that there is a vast difference in the action of the various remedies for constipation. Some are "flushes," purges, physics. They sicken and weaken.

For lasting effect use a laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently and mildly so that even a tiny baby can use it with safety. It is a compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. A sixty-cent bottle will last an average family many months.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the most popular of all laxatives and more is used in American homes than any other. Last year eight million bottles were sold by druggists, the largest sale in the world.

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Everybody now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

with which he gives forth some of the most fascinating of jazz music. It is an invitation to dance. Ross was in the Keith Boston theatre last week and he scored heavily.

Number three on this bill will be occupied by the Three Chums, singers and comedians, who will give "A Few Moments at the Club." It is a sort of musical sketch which will find many admirers, for the participants in it are first of all good actors, and they give a clue scene which is true to the life.

Dancers of marvelous speed are Jack Rolis and Ruby Royce, who will give their 100 per cent finish. They resemble the famous automobile of similar name in that they are distinctive in every move. And then there are the Donald Sisters, balancers who introduce a lot of very high class manipulation and who are, also, uncommonly attractive young women. Bob and Peggy Valentine will jumble up comedy, singing and dancing and Comedienne Tom is a trained pony. Kinograms, Topics of the Day and a screen comedy will also be shown.

RIALTO THEATRE

Houses Peters and Jane Novak in James Oliver Curwood's famous northern story, "Isabel," forms the feature of a double feature program opening at the Rialto theatre this afternoon and continuing for the first three days of the week. The second feature introduces Mahlon Hamilton and Betty Blythe in "The Love of a Fool," and as supporting features, there are a Jimmy Auble Comedy, "Jonah Day," a continuation of "The Son of Tarzan," and the Famous News Don't fail to take in this program over the holiday for it embraces a variety of entertainment that will please everybody.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Everyone seems to agree that next to perfection in production, the chief requisite for a perfect motion picture is a real honest-to-goodness story. It's that type of dramatic tale that David W. Griffith has chosen for the basis of his latest photodrama, "The Love Flower," the feature production at the Merrimack Square theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday. The story is filled with an endless amount of action and suspense and is conceded to be one of the most dramatic features ever produced by Mr. Griffith. The other big feature for the first half of the week is "The Guile of Woman," starring popular Will Rogers. A comedy and the International News round out the bill.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the members of the Pawtucketville Improvement association will be held tomorrow evening in the vestry of the Pawtucket Congregational church. The committee has appointed to take up improvements which are needed in that section of the city and arrangements will be made for the carnival which will be held on the Lakewood avenue grounds from May 15 to 21 inclusive, the grounds having been donated to the committee by the Merrimack Mfg. Co.

Not Beauty Only

These whiter teeth mean safer teeth as well

No doubt the great reason why millions use Pepsodent is to get prettier teeth. It removes the dingy film.

But science has more important objects. Pepsodent brings five effects, and all of them mean better tooth protection.

The ruinous film

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Old methods of brushing do not effectively combat it. So it often lingers long.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look cloudy. Countless teeth are thus made dingy.

Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of other serious troubles. Most of the tooth and gum attacks are now traced to that film.

Must combat it daily

After diligent research science has found two ways to combat that film. Many careful tests have proved them. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

Both are embodied in a modern tooth paste—Pepsodent. Every use attacks the film in two effective ways. It also brings three other results which have proved essential.

Fights starch and acid

Pepsodent does what fruit acids do. It multiplies the salivary flow. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. Every use of Pepsodent multiplies their powers.

Effects are apparent

Millions now know the delightful effects. Any one who will can quickly see and feel them.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Then read the reasons in the book we send.

A week may bring a life-long change in your teeth cleaning methods. Cut out the coupon now.

The New-Day Dentifrice

Scientific film combatant, combined with two other modern requisites. Now advised for daily use by leading dentists everywhere. Supplied by druggists in large tubes.

LITTLE VISITS WITH FEATHERED FRIENDS

Tired from a tramp of many hours, when the warm May day had yielded to our searching eyes and listening ears many wild birds and their songs, we sank into some cool shade across the road from an old orchard. There came then from the orchard a song of such wonderful quality that it stamped itself upon my memory as no other individual song from a feathered throat has ever done.

Just mention a brown thrasher to me and I go back in memory to that particular day, and hear again that particular song. Bird voices have an individual quality of no mean degree, and I am inclined to believe that the older the bird the more accomplished his art. If I am right in this, it must have been much practice that put the quality into that orchard songster's work.

The first time you hear a burst of melody from a tall tree-top, a melody loud and insistent, a song that haunts your hours, you will know that you have heard the brown thrasher. In our childhood we knew him as "the merry brown thrasher." You will have little trouble in finding him, for he usually chooses a conspicuous perch in some tree-top, a fit setting for his wonderful voice. And he seems quite conscious of his ability.

In the nesting season a trip to the country roadside will reveal many brown thrashers slipping quietly among the green leaves, being careful then to be inconspicuous as possible, as they do not wish to betray whereabouts of their nests. Then, if they are to protect the family, the fat seldom sings near the nest. However, could tell the story of lives of many brown thrashers, chosen their green protection for their homes.

DROP IN OUTPUT OF SOFT COAL

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Output of bituminous coal in the week ending April 2 had slumped to 5,750,000 tons, or approximately 5,000,000 tons below the average regarded as an ordinary safe, the National Coal Association announced yesterday. "Not since our war days," it said, "has there been such a low average output."

The condition was attributed by association largely to lack of machinery and had resulted, it added, in mines running at "only half capacity with 100,000 miners idle."

If you want a continuous supply of vital energy to keep you fit and vigorous—

You must pay your body to create vital energy

The vital energy of the body—like a watch—runs down daily. And just as a watch must be wound up every day, so the vital energy of the body must be renewed. Otherwise the vital energy becomes exhausted—the blood becomes impoverished—the nerves get shaky—and you get irritable, depressed and feel all run-down. To renew the vital energy, the body must be paid to create vital energy.

Failure to pay the body to create vital energy often accounts for Weakness—impoverished blood—shaky nerves and run-down vitality.

In almost every case of weakness, impoverished blood, nervousness and run-down vitality, there is a real shortage in the body of several mineral elements which are absolutely essential to the creation of vital energy. These elements are particularly Iron, Calcium, Potassium, Sodium and Phosphorus. Therefore all these must be restored to the body to enable it to replace the vital energy which has been expended and to pay the body for the work it does. All of these elements are contained in Wingarnis in appropriate proportions and agreeable form. So that by taking Wingarnis when you are weak, anemic, or nervous, or run-down you restore the very mineral elements which enable the body to create vital energy—to make the blood rich and red—to strengthen the nerves—and promote abundant vigor, vitality and endurance.

Choose the right way to health

Get well—but get well in a logical way. Use great care in your choice. Remember this important fact:—when the body requires a variety of mineral elements—it must have all of them. No amount of any single one will do. For instance, iron is excellent for making blood red. But no amount of iron alone will be sufficient when the body requires Iron, and Calcium, and Potassium, and Sodium, and Phosphorus, as it does in the majority of cases of weakness, impoverished blood, nervousness and run-down vitality. Wingarnis contains all of these because it is prepared especially for weak, anemic, nervous and run-down men and women. Over 10,000 physicians have recommended Wingarnis. Your druggist has your bottle ready for you. Try just one bottle.

THOMPSONVILLE, Conn., April 18.—The plant of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Co., which has been closed since March 14, as the result of the refusal of the 2200 employees to accept a wage reduction, was reopened today without the slightest disturbance. A force of nearly half a hundred police officers and deputy sheriffs was on hand in anticipation of trouble but though there were many persons on the street, nothing untoward happened. It was said this afternoon that between 1200 and 1500 of the strikers returned to work.

CONTRACTORS AFTER FIREHOUSE JOB

That there is very keen competition among local contractors in an endeavor to erect the new firehouse at the junction of Pine and State streets is indicated by the number of requests for specifications which have been made at the office of the public property department.

Up to this noon no less than 33 firms or individuals had asked to look at the plans and specifications and a majority of these will undoubtedly submit proposals before 11 o'clock Wednesday morning when all bids will be opened. Ten firms are interested in the general contract, 15 in the plumbing and heating contract and seven in the electrical contract.

Those who have requested copies of the specifications for the general contract include: Mathias Connor, John J. O'Connor, Patrick O'Leary, H. V. Perreault, W. A. Driscoll, Austin Gallery, Fred F. Meloy, William Drapeau, E. V. Twomey and Connors Bros. Co. Plumbing and heating contractors who have asked for specifications include Wm. Curtin, Carroll Bros., H. H. Wilder Co., George Roche, T. E. JACKIE COOGAN, "THE KID" AND BABE RUTH

JACKIE COOGAN, "THE KID," ILL

NEW YORK, April 18.—Jackie Coogan, "The Kid," in the now famous Charlie Chaplin picture of that name, is making a villain fight against death in the Biltmore hotel. The little fellow, who is 6 years old, is suffering from acute bronchitis, with grave danger of pneumonia.

Dr. Jesse Helman, who was at the boy's bedside throughout the night, said he has remarkable vitality and has a chance of recovery. At midnight his temperature was 101 and his pulse 110.

"The boy, who had endeared himself to thousands, exposed himself to a draft while pretending to conduct the orchestra at the hotel Friday night, clad in the clumsy overalls he wore in 'The Kid'."

After the stunt he complained that he felt cold and sick, his manager, Harry Wilson, said. The youngster was immediately put to bed and a physician called. He coughs continually and has difficulty in breathing.

He keeps telling his dad, John Coogan, that he's going to get better in a few days and break in the new ball and bat that Babe Ruth gave him. The ball and bat lie on the bed beside Jackie but the kid is so weak and feverish that he can just barely reach out one hand and finger the seams on the big new "reggie" leather ball with Babe's name written on it in ink.

John Coogan, the boy's father, remained at his bedside throughout the night, as did his aunt. His mother is in Los Angeles. When the boy became delirious, Coogan told his wife over the long distance telephone of the boy's condition.

BIG CARNIVAL FOR IRISH RELIEF FUND

Lowell is going to have one of the biggest carnivals in years at the Casino in Thorndike street, next week, when a committee working for the Irish relief fund in this city will stage a series of attractions which should draw thousands.

The carnival will open Monday, April 25, and will continue until Saturday, April 30. A big midway which will rival the annual Fourth of July attractions on the South common, is being prepared and everything that modern entertainment promoters have devised in the way of novelties and amusements will be included. There will be teddy bears and dolls galore, together with the innumerable other attractions that are found on every midway, and the management has arranged for exhibition dancing, Irish jig dancing, cabaret features and general dancing for each day of the carnival.

The receipts of the affair will be turned over to the committee in charge of the local Irish relief campaign, and it is hoped by this means to materially swell the Lowell contributions and, if possible, to bring the total over the $45,000 mark, this city's quota. The committee in charge of the carnival consists of Fred J. Tourke, Peter McKenna, Owen A. Monahan and William Walsh.

POLICE INVESTIGATE RECENT FIRES HERE

Another investigation of the recent fire at the Washington grammar school in Lang street, was conducted this afternoon by Chief Saunders of the local fire department and State Officer Hale and incidentally the two men also endeavored to solve the mystery surrounding the fire in the barn of Frank L. Walsh in Wade street, a short distance from the school building, which occurred last evening.

Last evening's blaze in Walsh's barn was the third within the past couple of weeks. The fire was discovered shortly after 5:30 o'clock by a pedestrian who saw smoke issuing from the building. An alarm was sent in from box 55 and when the firemen reached the premises they found a lively blaze between the floors of the structure. The fire was put out before any serious damage was done. The police think the fire was set.

determination to the final struggle." From Carol Bruga came this message:

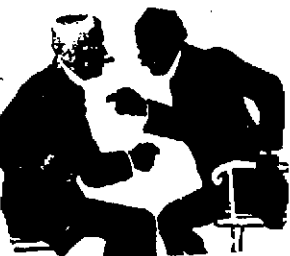

"There are more soldiers than the minister of defense can arm and the spirit of every man, woman and child is magnificent. The army of the republic remains on the offensive and all are eager to step into the breach. Our morale is high and all are confident. Mr. Boland in an address, pleaded for the recognition of the 'Irish republic' by the United States and for moral and financial support from all Americans. He said a new Irish loan of $100,000,000 might be floated in this country soon, and that the struggle rapidly was becoming a matter of money."

He declared that the English government had "used the torch, the lash, the rope, bullets, sabotaged the industrial plants and committed crimes which Christ at his death could not forgive."

"It is all in vain, though," he continued, "for the cause of Ireland goes on and is now at the point of victory."

Mr. Boland said England could have peace "any time she wanted it by guaranteeing Ireland self-determination," adding that Ireland was "ready to join an association of nations at any time and would guarantee that Ireland would never be used as a base of attack on England."

Eyes Sore?

If your eyes or lids are sore; if they itch, burn or feel dry; if your vision is blurred, your eyesight dim; if you are obliged to wear glasses, go to your druggist and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Dissolve one in a fourth of a glass of water and bathe the eyes from two to four times a day. Sound, comfortable eyes and improved eyesight will make the world look brighter.

Note: Doctors say Bon-Opto strengthens eyesight in a week's time in many instances.

Miss McNamara was showered with numerous gifts and best wishes.

PATRIOTS DAY

Tomorrow will be Patriots day in Massachusetts, a day devoted to the commemoration of two great historic events that will stand out while our history endures, each representing the first real blow struck in a great war, one the Battle of Lexington in which the colonists met the British on April 19, 1775, and the other, the skirmish in Baltimore on April 19, 1861, when Ladd and Whitney, two Lowell boys, became the promoters of the Civil war.

Well, indeed, was this day named by Governor Greenhalge for it is especially dear to Massachusetts and particularly to the city of Lowell.

Lowell heard the call that the national capital was in danger and the old Sixth Regiment lost no time in getting on its way to meet the southern foe.

The men were attacked by a mob on the streets of Baltimore and the first to fall were Addison O. Whitney and Luther C. Ladd, both of Lowell. Whitney was a native of Waldo, Me., 21 years old, and an employee of No. 3 spinning room of the old Middlesex mills. Ladd was a New Hampshire boy, only 18 years old, who worked in the "Big Shop," now the Saco-Lowell.

The relatives of both agreed to allow the bodies to be interred here as the state and city combined to honor their memory with a suitable monument—the shaft that stands in front of city hall today.

Lowell is proud of her heroes one and all. Her sons have proved their duty whenever the government needed their services and in the great war, many of her best and bravest made the supreme sacrifice on the fields of Flanders. While others, equally responding to duty's call, died in the training camps at home.

Lowell's sons have thus given her a unique distinction among the cities of the land, as having given the first martyrs in the war by which slavery was abolished and the union of states made one and inseparable forever.

The veterans of the Grand Army, of whom comparatively few survive, deserve all the honor we can bestow upon them and when they shall have answered the final call, their places will be filled by their sons and grandsons in the American Legion, and thus as generations come and go, will the memory of our heroes be duly revered.

"And the pages of their story
Be our proudest boast and glory."

BEAUTIFYING LOWELL

Lowell began its career as a workshop in which should be fashioned by loom and spindle materials to clothe the human family. Its industries have grown greatly and become diversified since the days when the canal gates were swung open and water first rushed down to propel the machinery of the big mills. From its earliest days, however, Lowell has remained true to its type as an industrial city. It has been a busy hive wherein men placed work foremost among the things that occupied their minds. As a consequence we have no art gallery, there are few statues in our streets and public squares, and not so much as would be desirable has been done toward making the city attractive.

Conservative as Lowell undoubtedly is, the time is certain to come when its people will turn their thoughts more largely in the direction of adding to the things that the city possesses that make for culture and refinement.

Some day we shall have an art gallery where people can gain pleasure and uplift from looking upon beautiful pictures and the end result works that have been given form by the hand of the sculptor. Some day there will be more statues in our public places.

How these things are to come we do not know. The experience of those who in the past have attempted to add to the attractiveness of the city by leaving donations to the municipality, has not been such as to greatly encourage others to attempt to follow in their footsteps. The way in which the Shedd playground has been neglected from year to year over a long period of time is a matter of common knowledge and common reproach. It is hardly credible that the Davis fund, left to purchase objects to beautify the city library, has been turned to other uses than those intended by the donor.

These breaches of trust have never been condoned by the public sentiment of the community and will be rectified, we are confident, in the near future. The Davis fund will be restored to its proper use and Shedd park will eventually be developed according to the design of the donor. Lowell must maintain faith with her benefactors; and that we surmise will be one of the first duties to be taken up by the new city council which we are confident will assume control of our municipal government under the new charter in 1922.

WHO'S TO BLAME FOR FATALITIES

Rather strange is it that our Safe Roads Campaign should be immediately followed by two fatal accidents and two others that may prove fatal. The fact seems to be, that the reckless drivers are allowed to carry on unmolested until they kill somebody and then in nine cases out of ten they escape the penalty of the law because there is no positive evidence to counteract their claim that the victim ran or stepped in front of the auto and that the accident was thus unavoidable. The fact that so many of the drivers guilty of manslaughter escape due to the other fact, that "Dead men tell no tales."

It is time, however, that the police should inaugurate a campaign of law enforcement that will teach people driving through busy streets and passing the corners of intersecting streets that any rate of speed exceeding eight miles an hour at such points leaves them liable to prosecution. Preaching to the public has failed. Heavy fines and jail sentences alone will help the situation. It is squarely up to the police to see that the auto laws are enforced. The police department is constructively responsible for the accidents, fatal and otherwise, that result from over-speeding in the thickly settled districts and for every other violation of the regulations and laws provided for the public safety.

TO STAMP OUT RELIGION

The communists of Russia have issued a proclamation relative to the observance of May day, claiming that the Red Army has stamped out the counter revolution, but winding up with this admonition:

"When organizing celebrations one must omit everything likely to hurt the religious feelings and traditions of those who have not yet emancipated themselves from religion."

Therefore, it is part of the communist program to annihilate the people from religion. Thus do we see the debasing tendencies of this so-called revolution.

YAP

France favors our contention relative to the island of Yap and it is alleged that England advises Japan to yield; but thus far there is no indication that Japan will do this although she may finally yield her claim with more or less reluctance; but she will fail if she expects to extort some concession on our part for giving up that to which she had no right in the first place.

The Yap controversy will be settled per se and entirely on its merits.

THE SLACKERS' LIST

Finally the government has found that it could not safely venture to publish the slackers' list. The danger of error is too great. It has repeatedly happened that men set down as slackers were found serving in the war under a different name or under some flag other than the American.

No newspaper dare do anything with such a list. It will simply remain as a matter of record.

NOW FOR A CLEAN-UP

It is well that the Board of Health has declared a "Clean-up Week." We have had so many drives of one kind or another that this clean-up will come in agreeably for the change. There is no doubt as to the need of a clean-up throughout the city, not only along the streets but in the backyards, the lanes and alleys.

American consular agencies repeatedly point out our lingual handicaps. We must have only one language at home, but we must also learn—and learn correctly—the languages of our possible customers abroad. Trade supremacy in the world's markets may go to the salesman who can best talk his potential customers' language.

Sam Compersa at 71 marrying a woman of 37 shows courage. It is time he should retire from the presidency of the A. F. of L. as, whether he knows it or not, he is fast losing his capacity for safe leadership. He should give some younger man a chance.

"Wedded Pair Remarried," says headline. That is an improvement on "Wedded Pair Unmarried," as a heading for a divorce court story.

The snap of the Harding whip over the back of the trusts was about as menacing as a milkmaid's call of "co' boss."

Synthetic milk may have its uses, but it will be the men who discover a synthetic substitute for the contents of the pay envelope, who will really deserve well of his generation.

If the latest rumor about the location of the packing plant proves true, will Lowell's loss prove Tewksbury's gain—or otherwise?

Now for a suggestion that ought to be received with enthusiasm: Why not a "concurrent" state and federal committee to thoroughly investigate investigations.

If there are any "incorrigible optimists" among Lowell's property owners, it will be interesting to witness what happens to them when the next tax bill arrives.

"Isn't the third business man about rested by this time?" asks the Boston Transcript. Oh, no, he is more tired by the present kind of business.

The announcement that the government spent $355,000,000 building airplanes during the war would be correct but for the fact that not a single fighting plane was finished until after the armistice was over.

A newspaper asks its readers to set down the names of twelve leading men in the community, who will be known to the next generation. It is hard at any time to say just who will become sufficiently famous or infamous to be remembered by a future generation.

"Beware how you treat a man who approaches you with a new idea," a Lowell lecturer is quoted as having said. Does he mean that we should welcome the get-rich-quick artists with open arms?

Perhaps Fall River has shown the way to get cheaper street railway transportation. Its home rule committee refused flatly to enter into a conference with the public trustees and it is given a much lower rate of fare than Lowell.

A correspondent asks why the screen law is not enforced on the liquor dealers. A more pertinent question is why there are any liquor dealers.

Oh, baseball fans, spare that tree on the south side of the city—we have none too many like it.

A theory of the survival of the unfittest seems to be borne out by the policy of Trotsky in Russia.

Mr. Harding thinks there is need of "more business in government." More business men also would not come amiss.

SEEN AND HEARD

Aren't you glad you didn't marry out of them critters that insist on buying their husbands' clothes?

Census bureau reports that illiteracy is decreasing. Probably the result of spelling out titles in the movies.

A minister who bought a second-hand car took it back to the dealer and told him he couldn't run the darn thing and stay in the ministry.

Young ladies who are eating yeast cakes for their complexion could have a delightful heart-to-heart talk with the old-timer who carried a buckeye for rheumatism.

J. A. Thompson, Scotch scientist, predicts that the earth will be ruled by a race of winged raptures 1,000,000 years hence. Some fellow who had been drinking Scotch in an airplane must have told him that.

"Speakin' of fancy crime survey," quoth Seth Tanner, "what's needed is 'a' rough once over of 'som o' these well dressed, soft headed boys playin' pool at 10 in the mornin' with boss choakin' rolls in their pockets."

A maid in the Highlands said to her mistress that she had let the baby's shawl drop out of the window. The mistress allowed that it was a very careless thing to do. She said the baby would catch cold, she was sure he would, and the maid sought to calm her fears by assuring her that the baby was still in the shawl.

Luigi Skirts Return

M. Joseph Paquin, a dressmaker whose name all women recognize, says that the day of abbreviated dress has passed, and that a renaissance of modesty is at hand. This is in fact, but changes of style there are soon reflected in the United States. He says short skirts and low cut corsages are going, and that long and full skirts are a feature of spring models he has designed. So, aspects of women's dress against which some men have been inveighing, are to disappear. Will that end criticism of women's dress? Probably not. Magazines of bygone periods show that there never has been more criticism of fashions than in those periods when dresses were long, and the fashion was to look demure. Psychologists may be right who say that modesty is less often in what is viewed than in the mind which complains of it.

Mail It Early

Do you let your business letters pile up during the day and then dump them into the mail boxes around 5 in the afternoon? If so, you are helping delay the delivery of mails by 12 hours, according to postoffice officials. In Chicago, for instance, more than 1,500,000 letters are mailed between 5 and 6 o'clock p. m. It's the same story in every town. The postoffice "sorters" are bound to get behind schedule if a whole day's work floods them in one hour. Then, too, evening mail trains are overcrowded, while morning and afternoon trains carry little mail. Make those early trains with your letters, by posting your mailing throughout the day—and help the postoffice give you quick service. We thank you in advance in behalf of Postmaster Mehan.

Songs

There is a song for happiness.
With movement soft and sweet;
There is a chant for might and power,
Of strong and sturdy heart.
There is a hymn for hope, that sounds
All plaintive in the ears;
There is a song for loneliness,
And a saddest one for tears.

Yes, life would tell its thoughts in song.
And songs in melody;
For singing words alone reveal
The heart's intensity.
The stumbling sounds are awkward,
Cold,
And hollow as they fall,
Until they find that perfect strain,
And music's voices call.

There is a song for sorrowing;
There is a song for pain;
A song for sadness and for care;
A tender, ending strain:
There is a song for love and joy;
Then let the lips repeat
The melody, the harmony
That doubles all their sweet.

—ALFRED ARNOLD.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Dogs as well as human beings, develop strange traits. One young fox terrier, whose home in the Highlands, has lately acquired a habit that is causing his popularity among the children of the neighborhood to wane. Sometime ago he troited home one day with a sizable wootly toy horse in his mouth. It was a very lively toy, of some child's hand, but "Spotty" cared little for that. Since then he has brought home children's toys of all sorts. For rubber balls he has shown an especial fondness. Dolls have not by any means been beneath his notice and the other day he returned to his own door yard bringing one of them with him. He was larger than himself. The rights of private property mean little of this young canine rogue. Wherever he can find a toy he appropriates it, even going to the extent of rummaging in baby carriages for things that he can appropriate. Older employees at the Highlands street station will tell you the odd trait of a dog that formerly made his home at the depot. He turned up at the station one day from nobody knows where. He settled down to stay, and the employees supplied him with food and board. He had a fondness for traveling on the railroad tracks. He was peculiar, though, about the trains that he used for his journey. He decided that the time was ripe for a trip to Concord, N. H. He would wait until a certain train came along, and then would board, trot into the baggage car, make his presence known to the train baggage master, and then curl up in a corner. At the end of the journey he would disappear for a trip around the city and return a few hours later for a trip back to Lowell.

Educational Note: "Ivory Axes and Peacocks," by James H. Munroe, one of the most brilliant books of one of America's most brilliant writers, was acquired by the Lowell public library in 1915, the year of its publication. It was taken out on cards October 20, November 4, and December 11 and 21 of that year. In 1915 it was taken out February 9 and 18, May 16, and September 18. In 1917 it was not taken out at all. In 1918. The same in 1919. Likewise in 1920. In 1921 it was taken out March 21, because I wanted to read it. But go down to the library and see if you can get "The Mystery of the Quince Tree," "Who Killed Ignatz Morgengelt?" or "Husbands, Wives, and Other Scandals." You will find that a million lovers of the prudent or sensational fiction have been ahead of you.

That the earth is the only planet inhabited by humans and that in 20,000,000 years it will be populated by another world, is the belief of Abbe Moreaux, director of Bourges observatory, France.

FIRST IRISH WOMAN IS EXECUTED

DUBLIN, April 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The first execution of a woman in the strife between the discordant factions in Ireland is announced. She was taken from her home in the Scotstown district of Monaghan yesterday and shot and killed on the bank of the river.

The woman, whose name was Kitty MacCarron, belongs to the farming class.

Kitty MacCarron, who was about 45 years of age, lived with her parents, octogenarians, in a wild mountainous part of the country. About midnight a knock was heard at the door, and a party of masked men entered and informed the victim they had come for her.

She struggled in vain; the assassins fastened her hands behind her back and led her pleading pitifully down a lane about a mile to the main road by the side of which the body was afterwards found with a bullet wound through the cheek, which is the customary sign of Sinn Féin executions.

A card on the body was inscribed: "Spies and informers, beware. Tried, convicted and executed by the Irish Republican army."

Neighbors refused aid in the removal of the body, such is the terror inspired in Monaghan by the recent series of terrible deeds which have earned for the county the reputation of the worst in Ulster.

Thousands Embark For United States
DUBLIN, April 17.—Nearly 1000 Irish emigrants embarked at Queenstown Saturday and yesterday, bound for the United States.

Several attacks on the constabulary were reported yesterday. Two constables were dangerously wounded at Mullina, after which armed forces went through the streets firing bombs and shooting indiscriminately.

A bomb attack was made on a motor car containing auxiliaries Saturday night. Soldier was shot and killed and a constable and two women were wounded.

"A survey of the roads of the United States of America," published in 1759, was the first road book published in this country.

THE HOME GARDEN

Story of Value of Small Fruits and Berries

The home garden is not complete if it does not contain a few varieties of small fruits and berries. When limited in area it is much more sensible to set out a few dozen strawberry plants or some currants and gooseberries than it is to use the land for potatoes, squash or pumpkins which can be grown so much more economically on farms where plenty of land is available. One has only to consider the comparative market price of strawberries and potatoes, for example, to decide which crop might best be produced in the suburban garden.

Now is the time to set berries and small fruits. They can be started this year between rows of vegetables to save space. Strawberries are best for very small gardens because they require less expert care and are almost certain to yield good crops every year if well fertilized and cultivated. They should be planted in rows 30 inches apart, with plants 15 to 20 inches apart in the row. Care should be taken in planting to see that the crown is just at the surface of the ground. To develop strong runners all blossoms should be picked the first season and four new plants saved from the runners of each mother plant. These should be selected according to the vigor of their growth and trained away from the original plant so as to form a row 12 to 14 inches wide. Currants and gooseberries are hardy with respect to cold but are quickly affected by heat or drought because they are not rooted and shallow feeders. They should be planted in a cool place where the soil is rich in organic matter and within reach of the garden hose. They should be four feet apart in each direction and should be deep enough to have a few buds beneath the soil to provide suckers for new growth.

Raspberries and blackberries require more room than the previously named varieties and are not as well suited for small plots. They are an excellent addition to the garden, however, when there is room for them. Both these varieties should be three feet apart in the row and while raspberries will do well if rows are six feet apart, blackberries should be eight feet because the canes are much larger.

The United States cement industry produced in 1920 100,000,000 barrels of Portland cement.

SURE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calomine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. If blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin—plugging and queezing only cause irritation, make large pores, and do not get them out after they become hard. The calomine powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads as they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anybody troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—Adv.

HOW TO USE
BLACK IRON STOVE POLISH

Shake the bottle well and apply sparingly to the top of the stove in the morning before starting the fire; then start the fire and as soon as the front covers and cross section are just about dry, which generally requires less than two minutes, start burnishing the entire top, working fast so stove will not become too hot while working over it, and finish off the top with a dry cloth or an old piece of velvet preferred. The entire operation should not require over five minutes.

Go over the rest of your stove with the moist stove polish rag and finish with a dry rag or old piece of velvet.

If covers or front of stove redden up quickly, change covers around or go over them with fine emery paper or wire wool waste to roughen them up a little and apply the polish in the usual way. Cut out and save these directions.

600 ARRESTS IN RAIDS

Result of 10 Days of Police Activity in Enforcement of New York Dry Law

NEW YORK, April 18.—Ten days of police activity in enforcement of the new state prohibition laws have resulted in more than 600 arrests in Manhattan or enough, if each prisoner is indicted and given trial by jury, to occupy the court of general sessions for two years, Assistant District Attorney J. F. Banton declared today.

The court of general sessions, before which, under the state prohibition law, all indicted persons must be given trial, normally handles only 300 jury cases a year, Mr. Banton said.

The assistant district attorney also announced plans for organization of a bureau of volunteer systems to enforce the civil sections of the new law. In this connection, he said, injunctions would be sought against the sale of liquors in all places where proof of sale has been obtained.

"Such injunctions being issued," he added, "it becomes contempt of court to violate them. There are also the so-called 'in-rem' cases, in which the state is plaintiff and all barrels and bottles of seized liquor the defendants. Hence these barrels and bottles each must have its day in court, and owners may attempt to prove rightful possession against the court's claim that they were possessed in violation of the law."

VENEZUELA MISSION HONORED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 18.—Members of the special mission from Venezuela here for the purpose of presenting to the city of New York an equestrian statue of General Simon Bolivar, "liberator of South America," were guests of Mayor Hylan and the board of aldermen today.

Colonel Rodman Wanamaker and Grover A. Whalen of the mayor's committee on reception to distinguished guests, went to the hotel where the mission is quartered to escort the Venezuelans to the city hall, where in the aldermanic chamber, the mayor was prepared to extend them the welcome of the city.

Tomorrow afternoon the mission will unveil the Bolivar statue in Central park. President Harding, Governor Miller and city officials will be present. Rene Viviani, former French premier, who came to the United States as a special emissary from France, was to be the city's guest in an afternoon reception at city hall, where the mayor and aldermen planned to extend to him the freedom of the city.

A special Salvation Army service was held at the Highland Congregational church yesterday morning. The service opened with the organ prelude, "Intermezzo" by Clyde, played by Miss Clara Fenton while the Salvation Army band marched in and took seats. Following this a selection was given by the band and then a prayer by Rev. James M. Craig. The chorus, led by Miss Alice Ingham, sang "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me" a solo by Miss Hazel F. Tuttle, Adjt. Robert Henderson of the Salvation Army delivered an address on the great work the army is doing and has done. The service closed after another selection by the band and the Postlude, Mueller's "Festival March" by Miss Fenton.

Frederick William, the former crown prince, and Prince Adalbert, in long gray mantles, walked briskly forward. Other members of the family alighted from their cars. Prince Gustav, the duke of Brunswick, Prince Pierstenberg, Gen. von Gontard, chief of the household, Countess von Keller and Countess von Rantzau, the staunchest friends of the late empress and ladies-in-waiting in the old days, and the court chamberlain, Baron von Spitzemberg.

Representatives of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, the dowager empress and the prince consort, together with representatives of the king of Spain and the king of Sweden and a number of Dutch officials closed the procession.

When all had collected around the coffin, the court chamberlain, Dr. Dryander, his voice vibrating with emotion, delivered a brief oration. The coffin was then placed on the raised catafalque, which Wilhelm, Frederick William and Princess Louise entered and remained for a few moments.

For a brief period Wilhelm became dimly visible to those who had gathered to watch the ceremony, his figure that of a man broken by sorrow. Princess Louise entered the automobile with her father, the door closed and the car glided on, carrying the ex-liege back to confinement at Doorn, to face his fate without his devoted wife who until now had shared his humiliation.

Soon after the departure of the former emperor, the former crown prince left the station platform and returned to the castle with the duke of Brunswick and others who are staying in Holland.

The last farewell visit to the funeral car will be paid tomorrow morning before it proceeds to Potsdam. Those who are remaining on the train to accompany the body included Prince Adalbert and his wife, Prince Oscar, Prince Pierstenberg, Countess von Keller, Countess von Rantzau and Baron von Spitzemberg.

CHARTER BILL

Let Owners Would Protest Appointment of Cemetery Commissioners by Mayor Subject to Confirmation.

If the present charter bill, now in the legislature, providing for the appointment of members of the cemetery commission by the mayor, subject to confirmation by the municipal council, is passed, there will be a very serious protest by lot owners of the local public cemeteries, according to William H. Rigby, chairman of the cemetery commissioners.

Mr. Rigby says that such an arrangement would simply put the commission back into politics where it was before a special legislative enactment provided that it should be named by the mayor, subject to no confirmatory action on the part of any body.

WOMAN AVOIDS AN OPERATION

Hope Nearly Gone, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her

Star, N. C.—"My monthly spells gave me so much trouble, sometimes they would last two weeks. I was treated by two doctors without relief and they both said I would have to have an operation. I had my trouble four years and was unfit to do anything, and had given up all hope of ever getting any better. I read about your medicine in the 'Primitive Baptist' paper and decided to try it. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for about seven months and now I am able to do my work. I shall never forget your medicine and you may publish this if you want to as it is true."—Mrs. J. F. HURSEY, Star, N. C.

Here is another woman who adds her testimony to the many whose letters we have already published, proving that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound often restores health to suffering women even after they have gone so far that an operation is deemed advisable. Therefore it will surely pay any woman who suffers from ailments peculiar to her sex to give this good old fashioned remedy a fair trial.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

"UNDER THE BOLO-BUSH"

"WHAT SHALL WE DO?" THEY ASKED THE FAIRYMAN.

Mr. and Mrs. Monkey stood looking at the two cocoanuts under the bolo-bush.

"Where's the nice white rice, Mr. Moon-Man?" asked Mr. Monkey. Flippety-Flap now stepped into view behind the round mirror, followed the twins.

"Are you the Moon-Man?" asked Mrs. Monkey in surprise. "You may call me what you wish," answered Flippety-Flap. "These are my friends."

"But where's the rice?" "Flippety-Flap pointed to the cocoanuts with the holes in the ends. Mr. and Mrs. Monkey each grabbed a cocoanut and sniffed. "Great goldfish!" chorused Mr. Monkey. "It's rice just as anything!"

"Then, he and Mrs. Monkey stuck their fists in quickly through the holes and grabbed a handful apiece. A great, big, large, round handful—all they could hold. But when they tried to pull their hands out all doubled up in all, they wouldn't come!"

"Leggo!" cried Mr. Monkey. "Leggo, yourself!" cried Mrs. Monkey. But neither of them could or would or did let go.

"What shall we do?" they begged the fairyman. Flippety-Flap smiled. Things were exactly as he had planned and he was quick to answer. "Hold on tight. If you let go, the rice will likely get away. I've got a friend in a circus that—"

"What?" cried both monkeys in amazement. "A circus? We don't want to go back to the circus."

"Let me finish," said Flippety-Flap calmly. "A friend who has a big hamster and he can get your hands out in a jiffy so you can get the rice."

"Mr. and Mrs. Monkey were thoughtful. 'If we go can we have goldfish for lunch?' asked Mr. Monkey finally. 'And a mirror?' Mrs. Monkey said quickly."

"Certainly," nodded Flippety-Flap. "The Fairy Queen will see to that. 'All right,' agreed the monkeys. 'Let's hurry!'"

Letter Left by Head of

Greek Church Praises

American Women

A posthumous letter from the head of the Greek church throughout the world praising the work of two American women relief workers, Miss Fannie G. Strouger, of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Letta Priest, of Detroit, Mich., has just reached the New York office of the near east relief. Both girls are engaged in caring for the refugees and nursing the wounded back of the Greek front near Ismid. The letter is from His Holiness, Archbishop Dorotheos, of Broussa, locum tenens of the Greek Patriarchate at Constantinople, who died in London on March 15. He had written the letter just before he left Constantinople to attend the near eastern conference in London, which was the first time the ecumenical patriarch of the Greek church had visited western Europe since 1445. The patriarch writes:

The most reverend Metropolitan of Nicomedia, Alexander, by his report to the Patriarchate describing the dreadful condition of the numerous Greek refugees there in the vicinity who escaped the alarm and cruelty of the

Turks and came to Nicomedia, with special emotion and gratefulness describes the great assistance in food, clothing and shelter most valuable committee rendered to these wretched ones since May last, and the wonderful work done by the near east relief and the American hospital at Ismid. His Holiness mentions very gratefully the work of your personnel at Derindeje, and especially the great affection and self-sacrifice shown by Misses Strouger and Priest in this high philanthropic service, who spare nothing for the good and relief of the poor."

Having taken under consideration the above mentioned report, we read it with emotion in the meeting of our Holy and Sacred Synod, and thought it our duty to express to you and the American Red Cross, through you, the warmest thanks of our church and of our nation for the philanthropic and fraternal assistance. We beg you to be pleased to express our thanks to your representatives in Derindeje, and especially to the above mentioned ladies, Miss Strouger and Miss Priest."

Again repeating our expression of gratitude and appreciation to you and to the whole noble American nation as well, for such splendid relief to all sufferers in general, for your good will and conscientiousness of the commandments of the high Christian virtue and love, we beg God to grant you the best of all: good health and real happiness. Governor of the Ecumenical Throne. With numerous blessings in Christ's name.

MISS BIBEAU TELLS OF SPLENDID RESULT

North Bridge Resident Says She Believes Tanlac Will Restore Anyone Who Suffers as She Did

"I just think Tanlac is the grandest medicine in the world, and I wish everybody suffering like I did knew about it and would try it, for I believe it is the one medicine that will restore them to health," said Miss Melina Bibeau of Northbridge, Mass.

"For some time I was in a badly rundown condition. I suffered from constipation a great deal, and had awful pains in my stomach after eating. My food seemed to give me no more energy than if I hadn't eaten anything at all. I fell off in weight, and felt tired and worn out all the time. I had very little strength and was in such a miserable condition that I was very much worried about myself."

"Four bottles of Tanlac had given me an excellent appetite and have rid me entirely of stomach trouble and constipation. My food agrees with me perfectly and gives me new strength and energy. I have gained several pounds in weight, that tired, worn out feeling has completely disappeared, and I feel fine in every way. I am just as grateful as I can be for what Tanlac has done for me, and I'm only too glad to recommend it."

"Tanalac is sold in Lowell by Green's Drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass., Snow's pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

HUGHES SCORES SOVIET RULE

Declares U. S. Will Enter No
Trade Relations During
Red Regime

Russia Described as "Gigantic Economic Vacuum" in
Letter to Gompers

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Secretary Hughes, writing to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who asked for a statement of "the facts" regarding Russia, indicates definitely that there is no prospect of a resumption of relations with the United States while the soviet political and economic system remains. The letter of the secretary of state makes direct reply to various statements characterized as propaganda, which contend resumption of relations, trade or political, with the soviet would open a great current of trade of advantage to the United States and that large shipments of Russian gold have already been made to other countries in payment for goods.

SPRING AILMENTS

Impure Blood, Humors—Relief in
a Good Medicine.

Spring ailments are due to impure, thin, dehydrated blood.

Among them are pimples, boils,
other eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism, loss of appetite, that tired
feeling, nervousness and "all run-
down" conditions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla combines the roots, barks, herbs, berries and other medicinals that have been found in many years of intelligent observation to be most effective in the treatment of these ailments.

Successful physicians prescribe
the same ingredients for diseases of the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys, and in cases where alterative
and tonic effects are needed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the spring medicine that purifies and rejuvenates your blood, increasing

political and economic system continues."

Taking us specifically the charge
that the scarcity of goods in Russia
is due to the blockade which was removed July 8, 1920, and the statement
that the demand for manufactured
goods in Russia is so great, and the purchasing power of the soviets so vast
that it is almost impossible to determine the capacity of the Russian market to imports, Sec. Hughes wrote:
"Though there is almost no limit to
the amount and variety of commodities
urgently needed by Russia, the purchasing power of that country is now at a minimum and the demand must consequently remain unsatisfied. The attitude and action of the present authorities of Russia have tended to undermine its political and economic relationship with other countries. The Russian people are unable to obtain credit which might otherwise be based on the vast potential wealth of Russia and
are compelled to be deprived of commodities immediately necessary for consumption, raw material and manufactured productive equipment. It should not be overlooked that there has been
a steady degeneration in even those industries in soviet Russia that were not dependent upon imports of either
raw material or partly finished products nor in which there have been any shortage of labor. The entire economy of the soviet is the failure of industries to blockades or civil war, for most of them require no imports, and the man mobilized since the soviet revolution were far less in number than before that event.

Restrictions on direct trade with Russia were removed by the United States on July 8, 1920. The conclusion
of treaties of peace with the Baltic
states enabled Russia freely to enter upon trade with Europe and the United States. Both American and European goods have been sold to Russia, but
the volume of trade has been unimportant, due to the inability of Russia to pay for imports.

"It is true that agents purporting
to be representatives of the so-called Bolshevik commissariat of foreign trade
have placed immense orders for the purchase of goods in the United States,
Europe and Asia. It is estimated that
perhaps six and one-half billion dollars worth of orders have been booked. But shipments, as result of these orders,
have been made only in small volume
because the soviet agents were unable either to pay cash or to obtain credit
so as to insure the delivery of the goods ordered."

In reality, Secretary Hughes says,
transfer of Russian gold to other countries have been small, and at the most liberal estimates the soviets have not more than $175,000,000 of gold in their possession. Even the immediate expenditure of the whole amount in the United States he points out, would have no pronounced or lasting effect on American trade or industry and it might "take away the scant hope that
is left of a sound reorganization of the Russian system of currency and finance."

There have been since Dec. 15, 1920,
Secretary Hughes informs Mr. Gompers,
no restrictions on financial transactions between the United States and Russia although there is no assurance

that the mint or the reserve banks will accept Russian gold, as public institutions must be assured that title is not
open to question.

"The facts," in regard to supplies in Russia available for export, Mr. Hughes wrote, "completely refute" statements
that if the United States recognized the soviets, Russia immediately would
export large quantities of lumber, flax,
hemp, fur and other commodities. "The fact," he says, "show that Russia does not have on hand for export commodities which might be made basis of immediately profitable trade with the United States, and he adds that the Russian transportation is so demoralized that it could not move them if offered. Mr. Hughes quotes an official organ of the soviet government
to show that lumber production in 1920
was one-fifth of the pre-war level, although the industry was in better circumstances than others. A table shows
the output of eight principal exporting commodities at from 12 to 58 per cent.
of what was expected."

Furthermore, Secretary Hughes
points out that before the war American trade with Russia in both directions constituted only 1.3-10 per cent.
of all the foreign trade of the United States, being in the year ending June 30, 1913, at a total of $55,000,000 for both exports and imports while for the calendar year 1920, it was $13,000,000
and practically all of that was with territories free of soviet domination.

"It is unquestionably desirable,"
wrote Mr. Hughes to Mr. Gompers,
"that intimate and mutually profitable
commercial relations on an extensive scale be established between the United States and Russia, and it is the sincere hope of this government that there may be readjustments in Russia which will make it possible for that country to resume its proper place in the economic life of the world."

MUSICAL FESTIVAL AT BOSTON ARENA

What is termed the greatest musical event ever staged in this country will be the coming Pilgrim Tercentenary
Music festival to be held at the Boston Arena the week of May 16. There will be a chorus of 1000 trained voices, a great symphony orchestra of 120 players, ballet of 100, with 20 solo dancers, together with the greatest array of celebrated opera singers ever assembled for any one festival.

Mr. S. Kronberg, who is responsible for this festival, is going to utilize the
splendid musical forces at his command to replace in large measure the lack of opera in Boston and New England this season, but also to provide a program of instrumental and solo vocal performances, which will range from the entire standard literature of music.

SEC. JOHN W. WEEKS

Some "Happenstances" Concerning Himself, His Home and the Forestry Law

(Special to The Sun.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18.—Here are two curious "happenstances" as they say up in northern New Hampshire where Secretary of War John W. Weeks was born. And they both concern him.

Secretary Weeks although a resident of Massachusetts was born in Lancaster, N. H., right under the shadow of the White Mountain peaks. The Weeks forestry law which has done so much to preserve the watersheds of New England rivers was a bill drawn and fostered by Mr. Weeks, then a member of congress. The terms of the bill make the secretary of war one of the members ex-officio of the commission which has the deciding vote in all matters pertaining to carrying out the terms of the bill. And now, just as the terms of the old bill expire, and a bill asking for its continuance with an appropriation of ten million dollars, has been put before congress, that same John W. Weeks is secretary of war, and now, instead of going before a secretary and urging favorable consideration of the project, as happened in the first instance, it will be Mr. Weeks, as secretary of war, who will be in a strong position to aid the project.

The second "happenstance" is that when Secretary Weeks recently entertained Secretary of State Hughes and Congressman Winslow at dinner on the occasion of their joint birthday, which this April 11th born trio were then celebrating, the dinner was given in the house built and occupied by Secretary Hughes when he was on the supreme bench, and which he later sold to Secretary Weeks, who now makes his home there. Col. Winslow likewise lives in a house of distinguished association. It is owned and was formerly by the home of a son of General Grant, who now leases it to Col. Winslow.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND

The extraordinary double-super-special program, scheduled for presentation on the Strand screen for the entire week, starting with matinee today, gives every promise of providing the patrons of the city with what is one of the biggest offerings in motion pictures that it has ever been their opportunity to enjoy. Certainly nothing bigger or better has ever been shown on the same bill, and we feel positively certain that never before have such big features been given at the Strand prices. General Manager Charles D. Soriano made a ten-minute tour in securing these two features and the local patrons should, and unquestionably will, show their appreciation by turning out in large numbers at all performances. Priscilla Dean in "Outside the Law" will be the headline, and Clara Kimball Young in "The Girl in the Limousine" will be the co-headline. There will also be a usual comedy and weekly and musical numbers, and the prices will be the same as usual, with 11-cent children's tickets being out in large numbers at all performances.

Priscilla Dean, recognized as queen of cinema crookdom, appears in the greatest characterization of her career, and her first feature since "The Virgin of Stamboul" in Ted Brown's melodramatic offering, "Outside the Law." The story is a tale of crime and the foremost character on the screen, is prominent in the star's support in two roles of astonishing dissimilarity: the hoodlum, Ralph Lewis E. Warren and others are also noted in the cast. Melbourne MacDowell and little Stanley Goethals are other principals.

When that brilliant, emotional screen actress, Clara Kimball Young, won universal fame as the wild, American girl in "The Eyes of Youth," then as the flighty and flirtatious Parisian in "The Forbidden Woman," and finally as the brave and noble spirited Spanish donna in "For the Son of Rafael," it was hard to conceive how she could excel any of her past achievements. Her latest vehicle, however, reveals new wonders in the versatility of her interpretation. With every new effort this ingratulating actress leaps ever higher in the affections of the public. "Miss Chantilly" Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's big stage success in which Ethel Barrymore scored one of her biggest triumphs, affords Miss Young bigger and better opportunity than any previous effort, to reflect her rare talent. It is known as the greatest story of married life by the greatest playwright on modern marriage. Don't miss seeing it.

OPERA HOUSE

The offering by the Lowell Players at the Opera House for the week beginning with matinee today will be that big Broadway comedy, "The Girl in the Limousine." Wilson Collier and Avery Hopwood, authors of "Tip in Mabel's Room," "The Gold Diggers" and "Fair and Warmer," are responsible for this latest, and by many considered their biggest laugh hit. Mirth and merriment flow in generous measure throughout the three acts of this farce. The plot revolves about the holding of a well known society man by two highway men who rob him of everything, including his clothes, and leave him unconscious under a bed in the very house towards which he has been headed as a weekend guest. From this point on the farce moves with irresistible funne complications to its finale. "The Girl in the Limousine" has been characterized the farce with a laugh every minute. It is a mass of comic confusions in which is mingled brilliant and side-splitting dialogue. To miss it will be to lose one of the most delightful entertainments imaginable.

It is needless to give assurance that the players will handle this offering with the same finish and satisfaction that has marked all former presentations. Miss Marguerite Fields and

Milton Byron will shoulder the major portion of the fun making, and as they have many times in the past demonstrated their special qualifications of comedy, there is every reason to expect a most enjoyable result. Maxwell Driscoll, Charles L. Barren, and Kenneth Fleming will be found in congenial roles, while Miss Priscilla Knowles and Miss Florence Hill, whose comedy efforts have always been genuinely good, will again be found in good parts. Director Jack Bennett will make the production of the same high standard of all offerings by the players. Tickets are selling fast for the week's run, so that it is advisable to make your reservations early. Tel. 261.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Tomorrow, Patriots day, three performances of the show to be given its premiere today at the B. F. Keith theatre, are scheduled. Each performance will be complete in every detail, and they will begin respectively at 2, 4, and 6 p. m.

The present week's bill ought to prove a highly entertaining combination, for in the front place are Jean Adair & Co. in a human comedy called "Any Home," and which was written specially to fit the peculiarly high talents of Miss Adair. Miss Adair stands almost alone on the vaudeville stage, for while she does character parts calling for comedy a wonderful undercurrent of true pathos is to be found. This was specially noticeable in "Maggie Taylor, Waitress," which she appeared in here a year ago. In her present vehicle there is much of the same quality to be found.

For real comedy, without a moment of heavy thought entering into it, the act of "Blackface" Eddie Ross should take quite the palm. No better blackface single is on the boards than Ross, and his story-telling stands out as at once funny and wholly original. He carries with him his "African harp,"

Do This For Constipation

THE public should know that there is a vast difference in the action of the various remedies for constipation. Some are "flushes," purges, physics. They gripe and weaken.

For lasting effect use a laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently and mildly so that even a tiny baby can use it with safety. It is a compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. A sixty-cent bottle will last an average family many months.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the most popular of all laxatives and more is used in American homes than any other. Last year eight million bottles were sold by druggists, the largest sale in the world.

TRY IT FREE

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Everybody now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

with which he gives forth some of the most insinuating of jazz music. It is an invitation to dance. Ross was in the Keith lobby theatre last week and he scored heavily.

Number three on this bill will be occupied by the Three Chumps, singers and comedians, who will give "A Few Moments at the Club." It is the sort of musical sketch which will find many admirers, for the participants in it are first of all good actors and they give a club scene which is true to the life.

Dancers of marvelous speed are Jack Rolls and Ruby Royce, who will give their 100 cent finish. They resemble the famous automobile of similar name in that they are distinctive in every move. And then there are the Donald Sisters, balancers who introduce a lot of very high class manipulation and who are, also, uncommonly attractive young women. Bob and Peggy Valentine will jumble up comedy, singing and dancing and Commodore Tom is a trained pouter. Kinograms, Telenes and a variety of screen comedy will also be shown.

RIALTO THEATRE

House Peters and Jane Novak in James Oliver Curwood's famous northern story, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," forms the feature of the day and the Rialto theatre this afternoon and continuing for the first three days of the week. The story is a tale of the day and the Rialto theatre this afternoon and continuing for the first three days of the week. MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Everyone seems to agree that next to perfection in production, the chief requisite for a perfect motion picture is a real honest goodness story. It's that type of dramatic tale that David W. Griffith has chosen for the basis of his latest photodrama, "The Love Flower." The feature production at the Merrimack Square theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday. The story is filled with an endless amount of action and suspense and is conceded to be one of the most dramatic features ever produced by Mr. Griffith. The other big feature for the first half of the week is "The Guide of Women," starring popular Will Rogers. A comedy and the International News round out the bill.

A meeting of the members of the Pawtucket Improvement association will be held tomorrow evening in the vestry of the Pawtucket Congregational church. Committees will be appointed to take up improvements which are needed in that section of the city and arrangements will be made for the carnival which will be held on the Lakeview avenue grounds from May 13 to 21 inclusive. The grounds having been donated to the committee by the Merrimack Mfg. Co.

Not Beauty Only

These whiter teeth mean safer teeth as well

No doubt the great reason why millions use Pepsodent is to get prettier teeth. It removes the dingy film.

But science has more important objects. Pepsodent brings five effects, and all of them mean better tooth protection.

The ruinous film

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Old methods of brushing do not effectively combat it. So it often lingers long.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look cloudy. Countless teeth are thus made dingy.

Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of other serious troubles. Most of the tooth and gum attacks are now traced to that film.

Must combat it daily

After diligent research science has found two ways to combat that film. Many careful tests have proved them. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

Both are embodied in a modern tooth paste—Pepsodent. Every use attacks the film in two effective ways. It also brings three other results which have proved essential.

Fights starch and acid

Pepsodent does what fruit acids do. It multiplies the salivary flow. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. Every use of Pepsodent multiplies their powers.

Effects are apparent

Millions now know the delightful effects. Any one who will can quickly see and feel them.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Then read the reasons in the book we send.

A week may bring a life-long change in your teeth cleaning methods. Cut out the coupon now.

LITTLE VISITS WITH FEATHERED FRIENDS

Tired from a tramp of many hours, when the warm May day had yielded to our searching eyes and listening ears many wild birds and their songs, we snuck into some cool shade across the road from an old orchard. There came then from the orchard a song of such wonderful quality that it stung itself upon my memory as no other individual song from a feathered throat has ever done.

Just mention a brown thrasher to me and I go back in memory to that particular day, and hear again that particular song. Bird voices have an individuality of no mean degree, and I am inclined to believe that the older the bird the more accomplished his act. I am right in this. It must have been much practice that put the quality into that orchard songster's work.

The first time you hear a burst of melody from a tall tree-top, a melody low and insistent, a song that haunts your hours, you will know that you have heard the brown thrasher. In our childhood we knew him as "the merry brown thrasher." You will have little trouble in finding him, for he usually chooses a conspicuous perch in some tree-top, a fit setting for his wonderful voice. And he seems quite conscious of his ability.

In the nesting season a trip along the country roadside will reveal many brown thrashers slipping quietly to among the green leaves, being careful then to be as inconspicuous as possible, as they do not wish to betray the whereabouts of their nests. Then further to protect the family, the father seldom sings near the nest. Indeed, however, could tell the story of the lives of many brown thrashers who choose their green protection for their homes.

DROP IN OUTPUT OF SOFT COAL

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Output of bituminous coal in the week ending April 2 had slumped to 5,550,000 tons or "approximately 5,000,000 tons below the average," regarded as "ordinarily safe," the National Coal Association announced yesterday. "Not since pre-war days," it said, "has there been such a low average output."

The condition was attributed by the association largely to lack of market and had resulted, it added, in the mines running at "only half capacity, with 100,000 miners idle."

If you want a continuous supply of vital energy to keep you fit and vigorous—

You must pay your body to create vital energy

The vital energy of the body—like a watch—runs down daily. And just as a watch must be wound up every day, so the vital energy of the body must be renewed. Otherwise the vital energy becomes exhausted—the blood becomes impoverished—the nerves get shaky—and you get irritable, depressed and feel all run-down. To renew the vital energy, the body must be paid to create vital energy.

Failure to pay the body to create vital energy often accounts for Weakness—impoverished blood—shaky nerves and run-down vitality

In almost every case of weakness, impoverished blood, nervousness and run-down vitality, there is a real shortage in the body of several mineral elements which are absolutely essential to the creation of vital energy. These elements are particularly Iron, Calcium, Potassium, Sodium and Phosphorus. Therefore all these must be restored to the body to enable it to replace the vital energy which has been expended and to pay the body for the work it does. All of these elements are contained in Wingarnis in appropriate proportions and agreeable form. So that by taking Wingarnis when you are weak, anemic, or nervous, or run-down, you restore the very mineral elements which enable the body to create vital energy—to make the blood rich and red—to strengthen the nerves—and promote abundant vigor, vitality and endurance.

Choose the right way to health

Get well—but get well in a logical way. Use great care in your choice. Remember this important fact:—when the body requires a variety of mineral elements—it must have all of them. No amount of any single one will do. For instance, Iron is excellent for making blood red. But no amount of iron alone will be sufficient when the body requires Iron, and Calcium, and Potassium, and Sodium, and Phosphorus, and Sodium.

Iron, and Phosphorus, as it does in the majority of cases of weakness, impoverished blood, nervousness and run-down vitality. Wingarnis contains all of these because it is prepared especially for weak, anemic, nervous and run-down men and women. Over 10,000 physicians have recommended Wingarnis. Your druggist has your bottle ready for you. Try just one bottle.

It was said this afternoon that between 1200 and 1500 of the strikers returned to work.

CONTRACTORS AFTER FIREHOUSE JOB

That there is very keen competition among local contractors in an endeavor to erect the new bungalow firehouse at the junction of Pine and Stevens streets is indicated by the number of requests for specifications which have been made at the office of the public property department.

Up to this noon no less than 33 firms or individuals had asked to look at the plans and specifications and a majority of these will undoubtedly submit proposals before 11 o'clock Wednesday morning when all bids will be opened. Ten firms are interested in the general contract, 15 in the plumbing and heating contract and seven in the electrical contract.

Those who have requested copies of the specifications for the general contract include: Mathias Connor, John J. O'Connor, Patrick O'Hara, H. V. Perry, W. A. Driscoll, Austin Galtrey, Fred E. Moloy, William Drapau, F. W. Twohey and Connors Bros. Co. Plumbing and heating contractors who have asked for specifications include: Wm. Curtin, Carroll Bros., H. H. Wilder Co., George Royle, T. E. PATRIOTS DAY

Tomorrow will be Patriots day in Massachusetts, a day devoted to the commemoration of two great historic events that will stand out while our history endures, each representing the first real blow struck in a great war, one the Battle of Lexington in which the colonists met the British on April 19, 1775, and the other, the skirmish in Baltimore on April 19, 1861, when Ladd and Whitney, two Lowell boys, became the protomartyrs of the Civil War.

Well, indeed, was this day named by Governor Greenhalge for it is especially dear to Massachusetts and particularly to the city of Lowell.

Lowell heard the call that the national capital was in danger and the old Sixth Regiment lost no time in getting on its way to meet the southern foe.

The men were attacked by a mob on the streets of Baltimore and the first to fall were Addison O. Whitney and Luther C. Ladd, both of Lowell. Whitney was a native of Waldo, Me., 21 years old, and an employee of No. 3 spinning room of the old Middlesex mills. Ladd was a New Hampshire boy, only 18 years old, who worked in the "Big Shop," now the Saco-Loell.

The relatives of both agreed to allow the bodies to be interred here as the state and city combined to honor their memory with a suitable monument—the shaft that stands in front of city hall today.

Lowell is proud of her heroes one and all. Her sons have proved their loyalty whenever the government needed their services and in the great world war, many of her best and bravest made the supreme sacrifice on the fields of Flanders. While others, equally responding to duty's call, died in the training camps at home.

Lowell's sons have thus given her a unique distinction among the cities of the land, as having given the first martyrs in the war by which slavery was abolished and the union of states made one and inseparable forever.

The veterans of the Grand Army, of whom comparatively few survive, deserve all the honor we can bestow upon them and when they shall have answered the final call, their places will be filled by their sons and grandsons in the American Legion, and thus a generations come and go, will the memory of our heroes be duly revered.

"And the pages of their story
Be our proudest boast and glory."

BEAUTIFYING LOWELL

Lowell began its career as a workshop in which should be fashioned by loom and spindle materials to clothe the human family. Its industries have grown greatly and become diversified since the days when the canal gates were swung open and water first rushed down to propel the machinery of the big mills. From its earliest days, however, Lowell has remained true to its type as an industrial city. It has been a busy hive wherein men placed work foremost among the things that occupied their minds. As a consequence we have no art gallery, there are few statues in our streets and public squares, and not so much as would be desirable has been done toward making the city attractive.

Conservative as Lowell undoubtedly is, the thing is certain to come when its people will turn their thoughts more largely in the direction of adding to the things that the city possesses the make for culture and refinement. Some day we shall have an art gallery where people can gain pleasure and uplift from looking upon beautiful pictures and the enduring works that have been given form by the hand of the sculptor. Some day there will be more statues in our public places.

How these things are to come we do not know. The experience of those who in the past have attempted to add to the attractiveness of the city by leaving donations to the municipality, has not been such as to greatly encourage others to attempt to follow in their footsteps. The way in which the Shedd playground has been neglected from year to year over a long period of time is a matter of common knowledge and common reproach. It is hardly creditable that the Davis fund, left to purchase objects to beautify the city library, has been turned to other uses than those intended by the donor.

These breaches of trust have never been condoned by the public sentiment of the community and will be rectified, we are confident, in the near future. The Davis fund will be restored to its proper use and Shedd park will eventually be developed according to the design of the donor. Lowell must maintain faith with her benefactors; and that we surmise will be one of the first duties to be taken up by the new city council which we are confident will assume control of our municipal government under the new charter in 1922.

Father strange is it that our Safe Roads Campaign should be immediately followed by two fatal accidents and two others that may prove fatal. The fact seems to be, that the reckless drivers are allowed to carry on unmolested until they kill somebody and then in nine cases out of ten they escape the penalty of the law because there is no positive evidence to counteract their claim that the victim ran or stepped in front of the car and that the accident was thus unavoidable. The fact that so many of the drivers guilty of manslaughter escape is due to the fact that "Dead men tell no tales."

It is time, however, that the police should inaugurate a campaign of law enforcement that will teach people driving through busy streets and passing the corners of intersecting streets that any rate of speed exceeding thirty miles an hour at such points leaves them liable to prosecution. Preaching to the public has failed. Heavy fines and jail sentences alone will help the situation. It is surely up to the police to see that the auto laws are enforced. The police department is constructively responsible for the accidents, fatal and otherwise, that result from over-speeding in the thickly settled districts and for every other violation of the regulations and laws provided for the public safety.

TO STAMP OUT RELIGION

The communists of Russia have issued a proclamation relative to the observance of May day, claiming that the Red Army has stamped out the counter revolution, but winding up with this admonition:

"When organizing celebrations one must omit everything likely to hurt the religious feelings and traditions of those who have not yet emancipated themselves from religion."

Therefore, it is part of the communist program to emancipate the people from religion. Thus do we see the debasing tendencies of this so-called revolution.

YAP

France favors our contention relative to the island of Yap and it is alleged that England advises Japan to yield; but thus far there is no indication that Japan will do this although she may finally yield her claim with more or less reluctance; but she will fall if she expects to extort some concession on our part for giving up that to which she had no right in the first place.

The Yap controversy will be settled per se and entirely on its merits.

THE SLACKERS' LIST

Finally the government has found that it could not safely venture to publish the slackers' list. The danger of error is too great. It has repeatedly happened that men set down as slackers were found serving in the war under a different name or under some flag other than the American.

No newspaper dare do anything with such a list. It will simply remain as a matter of record.

NOW FOR A CLEAN-UP

It is well that the Board of Health has declared a "Clean-up Week." We have had so many drives of one kind or another that this clean-up will come in agreeably for a change. There is no doubt as to the need of a clean-up throughout the city, not only along the streets but in the backyards, the lanes and alleys.

American consular agencies repeatedly point out our lingual handicaps. We must have only one language at home, but we must also learn—and learn correctly—the languages of our possible customers abroad. Trade supremacy in the world's markets may go to the salesman who can best talk his potential customers' language.

Sam Gompers at 71 marrying a woman of 37 shows courage. It is time he should retire from the presidency of the A. F. of L., as whether he knows it or not, he is fast losing his capacity for safe leadership. He should give some younger man a chance.

"Wedded Pair Remarried," says headliner. That is an improvement on "Wedded Pair Unmarried," as a heading for a divorce court story.

The snap of the Harding whip over the back of the trusts was about as menacing as a milkmaid's call of "co' boss."

Synthetic milk may have its uses, but it will be the man who discovers a synthetic substitute for the contents of the pay envelope, who will really deserve well of his generation.

If the latest rumor about the location of the packing plant proves true, will Lowell's loss prove Tewksbury's gain—or otherwise?

Now for a suggestion that ought to be received with a "goodwill." Why not a "goodwill" state and federal committee to thoroughly investigate investigations.

If there are any "incorrigible optimists" among Lowell's property owners, it will be interesting to witness what happens to them when the next tax bills arrive.

"Isn't the tired business man about rested by this time?" asks the Boston Transcript. Oh, no, he is more tired by the present kind of business.

The announcement that the government spent $355,000,000 building airplanes during the war would be correct but for the fact that not a single fighting plane was finished until after the armistice was over.

SEEN AND HEARD

Aren't you glad you didn't marry one of them critters that insist on buying their husband's clothes?

Census bureau reports that illiteracy is decreasing. Probably the result of spelling out titles in the movies.

A minister who bought a second-hand car took it back to the dealer and told him he couldn't run the darn thing and stay in the ministry.

Young ladies who are eating yeast cakes for their complexion could have a delightful heart-to-heart talk with the old-timer who carried a buckeye for rheumatism.

J. A. Thompson, Scotch scientist, predicts that the earth will be ruled by a race of winged reptiles 1,000,000 years hence. Some fellow who had been drinking hooch, an airplane must have told him that.

"Speakin' of fancy crime survey," cuss Seth Tanner, "what's needed is th' tough once over o' som o' these well dressed, soft headed boys playin' pool at 10 in the mornin' with boss chaakin' rolls in their pockets."

A maid in the Highlands said to her mistress that she had let the baby's shawl drop out of the window. The mistress allowed that it was a very careless thing to do. She said the baby would catch cold, she was sure he would, and the maid, sought to calm her fears by assuring her that the baby was still in the shawl.

Long Skirts Return

Mr. Joseph Paquin, a dressmaker whose name all women recognize, says that the day of abbreviated dress has passed, and that a renaissance of modesty is at hand. That's in Paris. But changes of style there are soon reflected in the United States. He says short skirts and low cut corsets are going, and that long and full skirts are a feature of spring models he has designed. So, aspects of women's dress against which some men have been inveighing, are to disappear. Will that end criticism of women's dress? Probably not. Magazines of bygone periods show that there never has been more criticism of fashions than in those periods when dresses were long, and the fashion was to look demure. Psychologists may be right who say that modesty is less often in what is viewed than in the mind which complains of it.

Mail It Early

Do you let your business letters pile up during the day and then dump them into the mail boxes around 5 in the afternoon? If so, you are helping delay the delivery of mails by 12 hours, according to postoffice officials. In Chicago, for instance, more than 1,500,000 letters are mailed between 6 and 6 o'clock p. m. It's the same story in every town. The postoffice "sorters" are bound to get behind schedule if a whole day's work floods them in one hour. Then, too, evening mail trains are overcrowded, while morning and afternoon trains carry little mail. Make those early trains with your letters, by putting your mailing throughout the day—and help the postoffice give you quick service. We thank you in advance in behalf of Postmaster Meehan.

Songs

There is a song for happiness,
With movement soft and sweet;
There is a chant for might and power,
Of strong and sturdy beat;
There is a hymn for hope, that sounds
All plaintive in the ears;
There is a song for loneliness,
And a saddest one for tears.

Yes, life would tell its thoughts in song.

And speak in melody;
For singing words alone reveal
The heart's intensity.
The stumbling sounds are awkward,
Cold,
And hollow as they fall,
Until they find that perfect strain,
And music's voices call.

There is a song for sorrowing;
There is a song for pain;
A song for sadness and for care;
A tender, soothing strain;
There is a song for faith and joy—
Then let the lips repeat
The melody of their sweet
That doubles all their sweet.

—ALFRED ARNOLD.

Dogs as well as human beings, develop strange traits. One young fellow, whose home is in the Highlands, has lately acquired a habit that is causing his popular fame among the children of the neighborhood to wane. Sometime ago he trotted home one day with a sizable woolly toy horse in his mouth. It was very likely the "idiot" cared little for that. Since then he has brought home children's toys of all sorts. For some time he has shown an especial fondness. Dolls have not by any means been beneath his notice and the other day he returned to his own door-yard bringing one of them with him that was larger than himself. The rights of private property mean little to this young canine rascal. Wherever he can find a toy he appropriates it, even going to the extent of rummaging in baby carriages for things that he can appropriate. Older employees at the Middlesex street station will tell of the odd trait of a dog that formerly made his home at the depot. He turned up at the station one day from nobody knew where. He settled down to stay, and the employees supplied him with food and board. He had a fondness for traveling on the railroad trains. He was particularly, though, about the trains that he used for his journeys. If he decided that the time was propitious for a trip to Concord, N. H., he would wait until a certain train came along, and then would board, trot into the baggage car, make his presence known to the train baggage master, and then curl up in a corner. At the end of the journey he would disappear for a trip around the city and return a few hours later for a trip back to Lowell.

Educational Note: "Ivory Apes and Peacocks," by James Huncker, one of the most brilliant books of one of America's most brilliant writers, was acquired by the Lowell public library in 1915, the year of its publication. It was taken out of the collection of books on November 4, and December 11 and 21 of that year. In 1915 it was taken out February 9 and 18, May 14, and September 15. In 1917 it was not taken out at all. Ditto in 1918. The same in 1919. Likewise in 1920. In 1921 it was taken out March 21, because I wanted to reread it. But go down to the library and see if you can get "The Mystery of the Quince Tree," "Who Killed Lemait Morganfeller," "Husbands, Wives, and Other Scandals." You will find that a million notions of the puritane or sensational fiction have been ahead of you.

That the earth is the only planet inhabited by humans, and that in 75,000,000 years it will be abandoned by our father world, is the belief of Abbe Moreau, director of Bourges Observatory, France.

FIRST IRISH WOMAN IS EXECUTED

DUBLIN, April 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The first execution of a woman in the strife between the discordant factions in Ireland is announced. She was taken from her home in the Scollstown district of Monaghan yesterday and shot and killed on the bank of the river.

The woman, whose name was Kitty MacCarron, belongs to the farming class. Kitty MacCarron, who was about 45 years of age, lived with her parents, octogenarians, in a wild mountainous part of the country. About midnight a knock was heard at the door, and a party of masked men entered and informed the victim they had come for her.

She struggled in vain; the assassins fastened her hands behind her back and led her pleading pitifully down a lane about a mile to the main road, by the side of which the body was afterwards found with a bullet wound through the cheek, which is the customary sign of Sinn Fein executions.

A card on the body was inscribed: "Spies and Informers, beware. Tried, convicted and executed by the Irish Republican army."

Neighbors refused aid in the removal of the body, such is the terror inspired in Monaghan by the recent series of terrible deeds which have earned for the county the reputation of the worst in Ulster.

Thousand Embark For United States
DUBLIN, April 17.—Nearly 1000 Irish emigrants embarked at Queenstown Saturday and yesterday, bound for the United States.

Several attacks on the constabulary were reported yesterday. Two constables were dangerously wounded at Ballyvaughan, where armed forces went through the streets firing bombs and shooting indiscriminately. A bomb attack was made on a motor car containing auxiliaries Saturday night. A soldier was shot and killed and a constable and two women were wounded.

"A survey of the roads of the United States of America," published in 1899, was the first road book published in this country.

THE HOME GARDEN Story of Value of Small Fruits and Berries

The home garden is not complete if it does not contain a few varieties of small fruits and berries. When limited in area it is much more sensible to set out a few dozen strawberry plants or some currants and gooseberries than it is to use the land for potatoes, squash or pumpkins which can be grown much more economically on farms where plenty of land is available. One has only to consider the comparative market price of strawberries and potatoes, for example, to decide which crop might best be produced in the suburban garden.

Now is the time to set berries and small fruits. They can be started this year between rows of vegetables to save space. Strawberries are best for very small gardens because they require less expert care and are almost certain to yield good crops every year if well fertilized and cultivated. They should be planted in rows 30 inches apart, with plants 15 to 20 inches apart in the row. Care should be taken in planting to see that the crown is just at the surface of the ground. To develop strong runners all blossoms should be picked the first season and four new plants saved from the runners of each mother plant. These should be selected according to the vigor of their growth and trained away from the original plant so as to form a row 12 to 14 inches wide. Currants and gooseberries are hardy with respect to cold but are quickly affected by heat or drought because they are fine rooted and shallow feeders. They should be planted in a cool place where the soil is rich in organic matter and within reach of the garden hose. They should be four feet apart in each direction and should be set deep enough to have a few buds beneath the soil to provide suckers for new growth.

Raspberries and blackberries require more room than the previously named varieties and are not as well suited for small plots. They are an excellent addition to the garden, however, when there is room for them. Both these varieties should be three feet apart in the row and while raspberries will do well if rows are six feet apart, blackberries should be eight feet because the canes are much larger.

The United States cement industry produced in 1920 100,000,000 barrels of Portland cement.

RAISE FUNDS FOR GREEK RED CROSS

An enthusiastic meeting of members of the local Greek community was held last evening in the basement of the Holy Trinity church in Jefferson street. The meeting was called for the purpose of raising funds for the Greek Red Cross and was very successful, for at the close of the evening it was announced that over $1200 had been taken up.

Christos Zlogkos, president of the community presided over the meeting and the speaker was Rev. Nestor Soultas, pastor of the church, who outlined the work of the Greek Red Cross on the battlefields of Greece, saying that its services were being highly appreciated by the Greek warriors in their conflicts with the Turks. The reverend gentleman made an appeal to every member of the community to donate his mite, saying the cause was an especially worthy one.

In the course of his remarks Rev. Fr. Soultas informed his gathering that their subscriptions would be forwarded at once to Queen Sophia of Greece, who is at the head of the Greek Red Cross. He also stated that Lowell's quota in the present drive is $10,000 and that amount would be sent even if the church had to make up the difference. Subscriptions are now being taken in the various stores of the community and it is hoped that within a few days the amount asked for will be realized.

COATED TONGUE AND CHOKING SENSATION

Symptoms of Nervous Indigestion Described by Mrs. Quinn of Portland

The nerves control the process of digestion and there is a form of dyspepsia that is due to disordered nerves rather than to any abnormal condition of the stomach. The treatment of such cases is to restore the weak nerves and the only way to reach them is through the blood.

A case in point is that of Mrs. Philip Quinn of No. 25 Cotton street, Portland, Me. She says:

"I think overwork and worry caused my trouble. My appetite was poor, I was very nervous and weak and had palpitation of the heart. I also had a burning sensation in the top of my head."

"Often I had a choking sensation. I could not digest my food, my stomach was sour and my tongue was coated. After eating I was uneasy and uncomfortable and felt bloated. I had dizzy spells and throbbing headaches frequently."

"I had heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for years and finally decided to try them. After using two boxes I noticed that I was much improved and after two more boxes I felt well. My stomach did not distress me any more, the dizzy spells left me and my nerves did not trouble me. I will always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because they helped me so much."

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat" which tells about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists or Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box.—Adv.

Notes on Yap Controversy

governments of Great Britain, France and Italy. He declared that the United States was unable to agree with Japan's contention that in order to maintain its position it would have to prove not only that President Wilson made reservations regarding Yap, but also that the supreme council adopted those views.

"As no treaty has ever been concluded with the United States relating to the island of Yap," Mr. Hughes added, "and as no one has ever been authorized to cede or surrender the right of interest in the United States in the interest of this government must insist that it has not lost its right or interest as it existed prior to any action of the supreme council or of the League of Nations, and cannot recognize the allocation of the island or the validity of the mandate to Japan."

Japan has not as yet replied to this correspondence, so that to date, the correspondence consists of the two notes quoted above, and another note sent by Acting Secretary Davis last December 5 by direction of President Wilson and two memoranda with which the exchanges were initiated last November after some question had arisen at the meetings here of the international communications conference concerning the action of the supreme council with regard to Yap.

In the first memorandum, dated November 9, the secretary of state said it was the clear understanding of the American government that the supreme council at the previous request of President Wilson had reserved for future consideration the final disposition of the island in the hope that some agreement might be reached to place it under international control and thus render it available as an international cable station.

The Japanese foreign office replied in a memorandum under date of November 19 that it was "the definite understanding of the Japanese government that the supreme council on May 7 came to a final decision to place under mandate to Japan all of the former German islands north of the equator; that the decision involved the reservation whatever in regard to the island of Yap," and that, therefore, the Japanese government "would not be able to consent to any proposition which, reversing the decision of the supreme council, would exclude the island of Yap from the territory committed to their charge."

In response to this memorandum, Acting Secy Davis dispatched a long note to Tokyo, setting forth that the American government could not agree that Yap was included in the decision of the supreme council of May 7, 1919, as claimed, and that even on the assumption that the island had been included in the mandate "all other powers should have free access to the island for the landing and operation of cables."

The Japanese reply on February 25 said that if the observation of the American government with regard to cables was put forth irrespective of the fact that the island was within the mandatory territory "then the question seems to be one which should be freely settled by the nation which has charge of the place, namely, Japan."

The note went on to say that if the observation was made owing to the nature of the mandate, Japan would draw attention to the fact that at the meeting of the commission on mandates on July 19, 1919, Colonel E. M. House, one of the American peace commissioners, opposed Viscount China's claim that the same equal opportunities for commerce and trade should be guaranteed in territories of the "C" class (such as the Pacific Islands) as in those belonging to the "B" class of territories under mandate.

"In view of the position thus taken by the American delegate," the note added, "the imperial government feels obliged to state that in their opinion the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron and is therefore an entirely different thing from organic iron. Organic iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. It may be had from your druggist under the name of Nuxated Iron."

Although such a course would naturally have been expected had the published text not conformed to the American understanding of the action of the House, one of the American peace commissioners, opposed Viscount China's claim that the same equal opportunities for commerce and trade should be guaranteed in territories of the "C" class (such as the Pacific Islands) as in those belonging to the "B" class of territories under mandate.

"In view of the position thus taken by the American delegate," the note added, "the imperial government feels obliged to state that in their opinion the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron and is therefore an entirely different thing from organic iron. Organic iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. It may be had from your druggist under the name of Nuxated Iron."

7 came to a final decision to place under mandate to Japan all of the former German islands north of the equator; that the decision involved the reservation whatever in regard to the island of Yap," and that, therefore, the Japanese government "would not be able to consent to any proposition which, reversing the decision of the supreme council, would exclude the island of Yap from the territory committed to their charge."

In response to this memorandum, Acting Secy Davis dispatched a long note to Tokyo, setting forth that the American government could not agree that Yap was included in the decision of the supreme council of May 7, 1919, as claimed, and that even on the assumption that the island had been included in the mandate "all other powers should have free access to the island for the landing and operation of cables."

The Japanese reply on February 25 said that if the observation of the American government with regard to cables was put forth irrespective of the fact that the island was within the mandatory territory "then the question seems to be one which should be freely settled by the nation which has charge of the place, namely, Japan."

The note went on to say that if the observation was made owing to the nature of the mandate, Japan would draw attention to the fact that at the meeting of the commission on mandates on July 19, 1919, Colonel E. M. House, one of the American peace commissioners, opposed Viscount China's claim that the same equal opportunities for commerce and trade should be guaranteed in territories of the "C" class (such as the Pacific Islands) as in those belonging to the "B" class of territories under mandate.

Total Catch of 100,000 Seals

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 18.—A total catch of approximately 100,000 seals, about one-half the number usually obtained in the annual hunt off the Newfoundland coast, was indicated today with the return of three more vessels of the sealing fleet. Today's arrivals, the Thetis with 19,000 pelts, the Neptune with 9000, and the Sagona with 8000 left but two of the nine vessels which pursued the hunt this year still out.

New Bedford Mill To Reopen

NEW BEDFORD, April 18.—The New Bedford Spinning Co., closed for the last six months, will resume operations Wednesday morning on a weekly schedule of 48 hours. The plant has 25,000 spindles and employs 300 hands, engaged chiefly in the manufacture of tire yarns.

Are You Weak, Worn or Worried? Is Your Blood Thin and Watery?

So that it makes you nervous, sleepless or easily fatigued? Don't wait until you collapse but commence to fortify your starving blood with iron today. How to do it.

If you are undergoing STRAIN, STRESS OR TROUBLE, don't forget that it is probably sapping the iron from your blood and that your RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES are likely DYING BY THE MILLIONS.

WHEN YOU FEEL THE FIRST WARNING SYMPTOMS—when you commence to lose your strength or vitality, don't sleep well at night, are highly nervous or irritable; get the "blues" easily; when your eyes begin to lose their lustre or brilliancy and the lids are pale inside (a most important symptom) then is the time you should act; and not wait until you go down in a state of complete nervous prostration or physical collapse.

A New York physician says that MORE THAN ONE-HALF THE POPULATION OF AMERICA PERISHES BEFORE MIDDLE AGE, and that one of the chief contributory causes of this terrible waste of human life is the devastating weakness brought on by lack of iron in the blood.

THERE ARE 20,000,000,000,000 RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES IN YOUR BLOOD AND EACH ONE MUST HAVE IRON.

When your blood is starving for iron no more tonic nor stimulants can put you right. You must have iron.

Get iron you must eat the husks of grains and the peels and skins of fruits or take a little organic iron from time to time and eat more such iron-containing foods as spinach and apples. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic or mineral iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron and is therefore an entirely different thing from organic iron. Organic iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. It may be had from your druggist under the name of Nuxated Iron.

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using NUXATED IRON. It will not hurt the teeth nor disturb the stomach. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Always look for the word NUXATED on every package and the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists in tablet form only.—Adv.

OPEN BASEBALL SEASON WITH VICTORY

Lowell Textile opened its baseball season with a victory Saturday afternoon in Andover, defeating the strong nine of that town, 5 to 3, in an especially well played game for so early in the season. Claude Farwell was on the mound for the millmen and with able support behind him and at the plate, succeeded in holding Andover at a distance. The locals attempted rallies in the last two innings but didn't have enough punch to put across a victory. Snappy hitting on the part of Textile, evidenced by two doubles, saved the day. Ray Reynolds, captain of last year's high school squad, played a fast game at short for Textile and should be a feature of the 1921 squad. The score:

GAME FARM WILL NOT BE CLOSED

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Lowell Fish and Game association held recently, a communication was read from the Springfield Fish and Game association wherein they requested the Lowell association to assist them in protesting to Governor Cox the closing of the state game farm at Wilbraham as per letters that had been mailed out to the sportsmen's clubs by Director W. C. Adams of the department of fisheries and game.

Secretary W. S. Holt of the Lowell association was instructed by the executive committee to write Governor Cox that the Lowell association protests the closing of this game farm owned and operated by the state for a number of years, and on Monday the following letter was received from the governor's office:

HOW TO USE
BLACK IRON STOVE POLISH

Shake the bottle well and apply sparingly to the top of the stove in the morning before starting the fire; then start the fire and as soon as the front covers and cross section are just about dry, which generally requires less than two minutes, start burnishing the entire top, working fast so stove will not become too hot while working over it, and finish off the top with a dry cloth or an old piece of velvet preferred. The entire operation should not require over five minutes.

Go over the rest of your stove with the moist stove polish rag and finish with a dry rag or old piece of velvet. If covers or front of stove ridden up quickly, change covers around or go over them with fine emery paper or wire wool waste to roughen them up a little and apply the polish in the usual way. Cut out and save these directions.

600 ARRESTS IN RAIDS

Result of 10 Days of Police Activity in Enforcement of New York Dry Law

NEW YORK, April 18.—Ten days of police activity in enforcement of the new state prohibition laws have resulted in more than 600 arrests in Manhattan or enough, if each prisoner is indicted and given trial by jury, to occupy the court of general sessions for two years, Assistant District Attorney J. F. Banton declared today.

The court of general sessions, before which, under the state prohibition law, all indicted persons must be given trial, normally handles only 300 jury cases a year, Mr. Banton said.

The assistant district attorney also announced plans for organization of a bureau of volunteer lawyers to enforce the civil sections of the new law, in this connection, he said, injunctions would be sought against the sale of liquors in all places where proof of sale has been obtained.

"Such injunctions being issued," he added, "it becomes contempt of court to violate them. There are also the so-called 'in-rem' cases, in which the state is plaintiff and all barrels and bottles of seized liquor the defendants. Hence these barrels and bottles each must have its day in court, and owners may attempt to prove rightful possession against the court's claim that they were possessed in violation of the law."

VENEZUELA MISSION HONORED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 18.—Members of the special mission from Venezuela here for the purpose of presenting to the city of New York an equestrian statue of General Simon Bolivar, "Liberator of South America," were guests of Mayor Hylan and the board of aldermen today.

Colonel Rodman Wanamaker and Grover A. Whalen of the mayor's committee on reception to distinguished guests, went to the hotel where the mission is quartered to escort the Venezuelans to the city hall, where in the aldermanic chamber, the mayor was prepared to extend them the welcome of the city.

Tomorrow afternoon the mission will unveil the Bolivar statue in Central park. President Harding, Governor Miller and city officials will be present. Rene Viviani, former French premier, who came to the United States as a special emissary from France, was to be the chief guest in an afternoon reception at city hall, where the mayor and aldermen planned to extend to him the freedom of the city.

SALVATION ARMY SERVICE

A special Salvation Army service was held at the Highland Congregational church yesterday morning. The service opened with the organ prelude, "Intermezzo" by Clyde, played by Miss Clara Fenton while the Salvation Army band marched in and took seats. Following this a devotion was given by the band and then a prayer by Rev. James M. Craig. The chorus, led by Miss Alice Ingham, sang "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me" and "The Lord's Prayer" by Miss Hazel F. Tuttle. Adj. Robert Henderson of the Salvation Army delivered an address on the great work the army is doing and has done. torla Louise, which drove on until it reached a shelter of shrubs, hiding it from view.

Frederick William, the former crown prince, and Prince Adalbert, in long army mantles, walked briskly forward. Other members of the family alighted from their cars—Prince Oscar, the duke of Brunswick, Prince Furstenberg, Gen. von Gontard, chief of the household, Countess von Keller and Countess von Rantzau, the staunchest friends of the late empress and ladies-in-waiting in the old days, and the court chamberlain, Baron von Spitzemberg.

Representatives of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, the dowager queen and the prince consort, together with representatives of the king of Spain and the king of Sweden and a number of Dutch officials closed the procession.

When all had collected around the coffin, the court chaplain, Dr. Dryander, his voice vibrating with emotion, delivered a brief oration. The coffin was then placed on the railway carriage, which, with Wilhelm, Frederick William and Princess Louise entered and remained for a few moments.

For a brief period Wilhelm became dimly visible to those who had gathered to watch the ceremony, his figure that of a man broken by sorrow. Princess Louise entered the automobile with her father, the door closed and the car glided on, carrying the exile back to confinement at Doorn, to face his fate without his devoted wife who until now had shared his humiliation.

Soon after the departure of the former emperor, the former crown prince left the station platform and returned to the castle, with the duke of Brunswick and others who are staying in Holland.

The last farewell visit to the funeral car will be paid tomorrow morning before it proceeds to Potsdam. Those who are remaining on the train to accompany the body included Prince Adalbert and his wife, Prince Oscar, Prince Furstenberg, Countess von Keller, Countess von Rantzau and Baron von Spitzemberg.

FRANCE CALLS TWO CLASSES TO COLORS

PARIS, April 18.—Orders calling to the colors the military classes of 1915 and 1916, have been received in Lille, says a report from that city. This step was forecast last week when steps to be taken by France against Germany. In case the Berlin government refused to meet reparations payments, were discussed. Men belonging to the first army corps will undergo a period of training before being called upon to advance into the Ruhr district of Germany, should such a drastic step be finally decided upon by this country.

The National Veterans' Union held a meeting yesterday at which were passed resolutions exhorting young men called to the colors to "respond as valiantly as did their elders in 1914."

JUDGE LILLEY DEAD

Well Known Lowell Jurist
Passed Away Saturday

Judge Charles S. Lilley, a prominent figure for many years in Lowell's legal and political circles, died Saturday evening at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital in Boston, aged 69 years, four months and three days.

Judge Lilley had been ill only a few weeks and his death followed an operation. Early last week he was reported to be gaining strength but Saturday brought the disquieting news that he was growing weaker and was not expected to live.

Judge Lilley in his later years sought few personal acquaintances following the untimely death of his wife and lived a secluded life among his books. In earlier life, however, his affability and good comradeship won him a wide circle of friends and his death will be widely regretted.

Charles Sumner Lilley was born December 13, 1851, in Lowell, the son of Charles and Cynthia Huntley Lilley. He was educated in the public schools and by private tutors. In 1876 he was awarded the honorary degree of A.M. by Dartmouth college in recognition of his research work and publications on the Monroe doctrine.

As a young man Judge Lilley worked for a short time as a designer in the Lowell Carpet mills but later began the study of law in the office of Hon. A. P. Bonney. In June, 1877, he was admitted to the bar and engaged in practice in this city. In 1885 he was appointed a justice of the peace and in 1893 became a member of the superior court bench on which he served until 1900 when he resigned to resume his law practice. For years his office had been in the old Railroad Bank building in Merrimack street.

Judge Lilley was a democrat in politics and served as chairman of the board of aldermen in 1879 and was in the state senate in 1893, 1895 and 1896. He was a member of the governor's council in 1884. He was the author of "What Is the Monroe Doctrine?" published in 1895, and of various other miscellaneous sketches.

On April 14, 1891, he married Miss Clara Bonney, only daughter of Hon. Arthur P. Bonney. He took up his residence in Essex street. After the death of her parents, Mrs. Lilley lived only a short time. One daughter was born of the marriage and she is now Mrs. Dunbar of West Newton.

Judge Lilley was particularly well-informed in matters of American and English history. His professional reading was wide and thorough and was frequently evidenced in the court room both in his capacity as judge and lawyer. He had performed many acts of charity that never came to public attention. He was a thorough American and the traditions of his country were part of his nature.

TAKES ACTION ON
JUDGE LILLEY'S DEATH

A meeting of the Lowell Bar association, held to take action with reference to the death of Judge Charles Lilley, was called to order today at the police court by Judge Enright, prior to the regular court session. "This morning," said the court, "it is my sad duty to call the attention of the Lowell bar to the death of one of the oldest and most honorable members of the association." Judge Enright then moved that a committee of five be appointed to take such action as they see fit as representatives of the organization. The following were appointed by His Honor as members of this committee: Judge John J. Pickman, Francis W. Qua, John J. Harvey, Jas. H. Carmichael and James J. Kerwin. A committee of eight was then appointed to attend the funeral, and the following: Hon. Thomas J. Enright, Hon. Frederick A. Fisher, Harry H. Brown, Charles H. McIntire, Frederick P. Marble, D. J. Murphy, J. H. Gullett and J. M. O'Donoghue.

REQUIEM MASSES

WATSON—A requiem mass for the late Judge Lilley will be sung at St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock.

FLINN—A requiem mass will be sung Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, at St. Peter's church, for Mr. Michael Flinn.

HOLLAND—An anniversary high mass will be celebrated at St. Patrick's church Friday morning, at 8 o'clock, for Annie F. Holland.

MASS NOTICE

There will be an anniversary high mass of requiem at St. Michael's church Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock for John, Mary and James McCluskey.

POLL AND PERSONAL TAXES
In a final effort to collect $440 poll taxes and 175 personal taxes which were levied last year but which have not yet been collected, City Treasurer Fred H. Hoarke has placed in the hands of local constables warrants for the collection of the taxes. Nothing has resulted yet, but Mr. Hoarke expects that payments will begin coming in in a day or two.

Mr. Hoarke believes that there are a number which are entitled to abatement, because many men have asserted who worked for a short time and who paid taxes in other cities.
